Queen Speaks to Nation On TV During October Visit

Ottawa Completes Tour Arrangements

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen will make two national television and radio addresses during her Ottawa visit Oct. 12 to 16, it was announced today.

The itinerary of the visit of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was made public today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The Queen will make a television and radio broadcast at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 12. She will then drive to Government House, where she will stay during her visit, and attend a press reception at 6:30 p.m. Government House is the official residence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen's representative in Canada.

On Sunday, Oct. 13, at 10 a.m., Queen Elizabeth will place a wreath at the national war memorial in Confederation Square in the heart of the capital.

She and Prince Philip will attend Christ Church Cathedral. The service will be broadcast by radio only.

The Queen has no public engagements on Sunday afternoon.

The Queen will arrive at the RCAF Uplands base, on the southern outskirts of Ottawa, at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 12. She will drive to Government House, where she will stay during her visit, and attend a press reception at 6:30 p.m. Government House is the official residence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen's representative in Canada.

It will be the first time in Canadian history that a reigning monarch will have opened Parliament.

Prince Philip will also deliver a radio address but the time for this broadcast has not been fixed.

She will drive to Government House, where she will stay during her visit, and attend a press reception at 6:30 p.m. Government House is the official residence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen's representative in Canada.

On Monday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. the Queen will receive the Privy Council at Government House. The council includes mainly present and past members of the cabinet.

At 10:50 a.m., Prince Philip will receive a diploma as an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Canada at Government House.

At 10:45 a.m., the Queen will receive the heads of the Commonwealth and foreign diplomatic missions and their wives at Government House.

The ceremonial drive to Parliament will start at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m., the Queen will officially open Parliament.

There will be a state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m., the Queen and Prince Philip will leave Government House for a drive through Ottawa and neighboring Hull, Que.

During this drive they will attend a brief ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway, a new express highway through Ottawa, and sign the golden book at Hull city hall.

At 12:15 p.m., Prince Philip will receive members of the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference on industrial and scientific research.

At 5:30 p.m., the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier hotel. This will be followed by a dinner at the prime minister's residence.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 10:40 a.m., the Queen will leave Government House for the drive to Uplands. On the way, she will stop at Lansdowne Park where there will be an assembly of school children.

At noon, she will leave by RCAF airliner for the United States.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement: "In view of the very limited time at their disposal on this occasion, the Queen and Prince Philip will not be in Ottawa for a full day."

Efforts to recover the other two bodies were halted when a second cave-in threatened diggers in the excavation project.

Police Chief Alvan Watson said the pit would have to be shored with wooden beams to prevent a further collapse.

The victims, all Dutch-Canadians, were buried Wednesday night when the wall of a 35-foot deep pit of a water plant collapsed.

Concrete had been poured into the pit before the collapse and police feared the two bodies were imbedded in it.

EX-MAYOR LOSES EYE AFTER BUSH ACCIDENT

Former Victoria mayor, Claude L. Harrison, was described in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today following an operation to remove his right eye.

Mr. Harrison was injured last Friday while clearing brush near his Malahat home. A sharp branch pierced his eye.

Canadian Dollar At Record High

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar today rose to a historic high.

Shortly after noon New York bankers quoted the Canadian dollar at 5 21/32 per cent premium in terms of U.S. funds.

Bankers reported the offered rate of 5 43/64 per cent premium.

The previous historic high of the Canadian dollar was 5 1/2 per cent premium, touched 24 years ago—in November, 1933, just before the United States went off the gold standard.

The Canadian dollar closed Wednesday at a premium of 5 1/2 per cent.

The touching of the all-time high climaxed a steady inching upward by the Canadian dollar, spurred by heavy U.S. investment in the Canadian economy.

Such investment involves the changing of U.S. money into Canadian money, and consequent demand for Canadian dollars. This demand forces up the price of Canadian money.

U.S. tourists here today will be irritated by the money exchange rate, just 1/32 more than on Wednesday.

This is because the Canadian dollar is 5 21/32 per cent higher than their money—the highest it's been since 1933, when our money was 5 5/8 per cent more than the U.S. counterpart.

So far, in most businesses, discount on U.S. money is made only on 50-cent pieces and above.

But the situation has arisen where a resident here receives change in U.S. silver; tries to spend it, and has the money discounted.

S. W. Dobbyn, 3287 Glasgow, said he had received U.S. money in change from the Johnson Street liquor store, and later three groceries refused to accept it at par.

Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan has said he will investigate the situation.

Dairies here charge the heaviest discount rate: two cents on 25 cents U.S., four cents on 50 cents; six cents on 75 cents, and five cents on the dollar.

The odd ratio was explained as banks charge for handling quantities of silver and, as one dairy spokesman said, "we get so much of it from corner groceries and elsewhere we have to do something."

The plane, a twin-engine Ilyushin-14 of the Russian Aeroflot Line, was on regular service between Moscow and Copenhagen via Riga, the former Latvian capital on the Baltic coast. It landed at Riga and took off for Copenhagen's Kastrup airport.

The plane was in normal contact with the airport until a few minutes before the crash. All orders from the control tower were given in English, which was translated on the spot into Russian by an interpreter and broadcast to the plane.

It contacted the control tower and reported it was flying east of Bornholm Island "and all is well." It dived in 3,500 feet and the pilot began searching for an opening through the overcast sky.

The Soviet pilot, flying on instruments, requested final landing instructions. That was the last heard from the plane.

The dead included five Russian crew members and 18 passengers, including 11 Russians. Authorities said the others were two Britons believed returning from the Moscow Youth Festival, three Germans, one Dane and a person not yet identified.

Russ Plane Crashes In Denmark; 23 Dead

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—A Soviet airliner from Moscow clipped a mist-shrouded power plant smokestack today while coming in for a landing and plunged into Copenhagen harbor, killing all 23 persons aboard.

The dead included five Russian crew members and 18 passengers, including 11 Russians. Authorities said the others were two Britons believed returning from the Moscow Youth Festival, three Germans, one Dane and a person not yet identified.

Russia Winning In U.S.-Syria Diplomatic Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is seen in some circles here as the big winner so far in a diplomatic dogfight between Syria and the United States.

The Soviet policy of making trouble for the Western powers in the Middle East appears to have paid off handsomely in this conflict which led Wednesday to American ouster of the Syrian ambassador to Washington.

Announcing that Ambassador Farid Zeineddine was no longer personally acceptable here, the state department also declared that the U.S. ambassador to Damascus, James S. Moose, will not be returning to his post.

In addition, the state department ordered out of the country by Friday Second Secretary Hassan Zakaria of the Syrian Embassy.

That step and the action against Zeineddine, who was already in Syria, were taken in retaliation for Syria's ouster of three American Embassy officials earlier this week.

At 5:30 p.m., the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier hotel. This will be followed by a dinner at the prime minister's residence.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 10:40 a.m., the Queen will leave Government House for the drive to Uplands. On the way, she will stop at Lansdowne Park where there will be an assembly of school children.

Liberal Chief Hopes to Lead Party to Polls

OTTAWA (CP)—Former prime minister Louis St. Laurent indicated Wednesday he will take up his duties as Opposition leader in the next Parliament and lead his defeated Liberals into another general election if one is called by next spring.

She watches her brother's activities with open envy, and probably the greatest calamity in her young life this year was the day Charles went off to day school, leaving her alone in Buckingham Palace to do lessons with Katherine Peebles, her governess.

No Rossellini For Daughter, Says Ingrid

ROME (UP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman today indignantly denied as "ridiculous" a newspaper report that her daughter Jenny Ann Lindstrom planned to marry one of the Rossellinis.

But the 75-year-old Quebec lawyer, whose party was beaten by the Progressive Conservatives in the June 10 vote, gave no indication of his political intentions beyond next spring.

LEADERSHIP NOT TALKED

The question of his leadership was neither discussed nor alluded to in the conversations, he told a press conference.

"I would expect that if there is an election by next spring, nothing will be done to change the situation as it now exists."

No consideration was given to the appointment of a deputy leader to ease his responsibilities, he said.

Duncan McTavish of Ottawa, president of the National Liberal Federation, was considering the summoning of the federation's executive committee at an "appropriate time."

Mr. St. Laurent did not believe the committee—which represents Liberals in all provinces—would meet before the new Parliament opens Oct. 14.

He had no plans for any extensive trips next year "beyond those absolutely necessary as leader of the Opposition."

On the question of whether he favors an election before next spring, Mr. St. Laurent replied that elections are "always disturbing."

"It would be rather unfortunate if another election was called within a short period."

He would not clarify what he meant by a "short period" when asked by a reporter whether he meant one or two years.

He said he was "rather flattered" to see that the press was still interested in what he had to say, and felt apologetic because he had no announcements to make.

The former prime minister said he will not take up residence at Stornoway, the suburban Rockcliffe mansion set aside for Opposition leaders.

"The reason must be obvious," he told reporters. "It is a big house and must be rather difficult to furnish, maintain and operate."

The new Opposition leader will reside in a small apartment a few blocks from Parliament Hill.

Child's Body Found

NEW YORK (AP)—The body of a little girl of about five was found Wednesday in a wooded section of Pelham Bay Park in the Bronx. Police said blood was found on the child's face, but there was no clear indication of how or when she died.

The emaciated body, wrapped in a military-type raincoat, was lying in bushes. Medical examiners said the girl apparently was "a sickly child who was certainly undernourished."

British Dock Workers Resume Food Loading

LONDON (Reuters)—Nine thousand dock workers handling food ships voted today to return to work after a sympathy strike in support of workers in London's five main fruit and vegetable markets.

... QUEEN

these broadcasts as well as other public information arrangements will afford the Canadian public generally a sense of presence with all of us here in Ottawa.

"It seems particularly fitting that Her Majesty should find it possible to be in Ottawa this year, which is the 100th anniversary of the selection by Queen, Victoria of Ottawa as the future national capital."

THREE-WAY JOB
"It is also most gratifying that the Queen herself will be able to participate in a ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway—a project involving the co-operation of the city of Ottawa, the province of Ontario and the federal government and one forming an important part of long-term plans to develop the national capital."

After they leave here, the Queen and Prince Philip will arrive at Patrick Henry Airport, Va., at 3 p.m. Oct. 16. They will visit the Jamestown festival, commemorating the 350th anniversary of the Jamestown settlement, and Williamsburg, the restored colonial capital of Virginia.

On Oct. 17 they will fly to Washington where they will be met by President and Mrs. Eisenhower. The Queen will place a wreath at the tomb of the U.S. Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery and at the Canadian Cross. That evening, there will be a state dinner at the White House.

TO ATTEND GAME
There will be other formal engagements in Washington before the Queen attends the Maryland-North Carolina football game at College Park, Md., Saturday, Oct. 19.

On Oct. 21, the Queen will visit New York, leaving that night by air for London.

House Group Cuts Foreign Aid Ignoring New Eisenhower Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The full House of Representatives appropriations committee today brushed aside a new plea from President Eisenhower—the third this week—and slashed $809,650,000 from foreign aid funds.

The action came on the heels of a White House statement, directed to the committee, asking for restoration of the money "in the conviction that the national interests of this country are deeply involved."

The sequence was about the same as Wednesday's. Then, Eisenhower in a special press conference, appealed for all of the $3,367,083,000 which Congress had set as the ceiling in an authorization bill he had just signed. That figure itself is $500,000,000 less than Eisenhower originally said was needed.

Standards of value were a main consideration, and a top limit of $2,000 was put on the price of the car, which was to have an engine of not more than 1,500 cubic centimeters.

Several cars which came within this specification were examined and tested, and as a result of these tests, it was thought that the car most likely to succeed was the new Hillman "Minx", which is well within this price range, costing only $1,898, and is powered by a lively overhead-valve engine of only 1,300 c.c. or 85 cubic inches, or 51 brake horse power by American standards.

One consideration which put the Hillman up front was its excellent suspension. Although the system is quite conventional by present-day standards, it is, nevertheless, remarkably steady and firm, without any trace of harshness.

Another was appearance. The lines of the standard sedan are very much in keeping with the more expensive Continental sports models, and these are somewhat enhanced if the car is in one color, and does not follow the present two-tone mode, which is not always so successful on the smaller cars as on the enormous chariots with many excrescences now being produced by the major American factories.

The interior of this small sedan has adequate space, and there is none of the feeling of cramped elbows—which was not uncommon in small Continental and English cars a few years ago. Also there is plenty of room in the luggage compartment.

The car chosen was painted black, with red leather upholstery. A judicious and economical use of chrome gives the car, when polished, a smart appearance, which was much admired in the States.

After a careful running-in on the Island roads, the car was driven in a leisurely manner to Portland. The next day's run from Portland to San Francisco—680 miles—was done in 15½ hours—without undue fatigue or the slightest discomfort.

Thence over the mountain passes to Lake Tahoe and on to Reno. Next from Reno to John Day in Oregon, along Highway 395—hard to beat for scenic grandeur and comparatively deserted. Finally another long run, leaving John Day at 7:30 a.m., arriving at Harrison Hot Springs at 10 p.m.—560 miles; three hours being used for stops.

Although conscious of the fact that one was not driving a Jaguar, Aston Martin or a Sunbeam "Rapier," the general behaviour of this little "Minx", costing only $1,898, was quite astonishing.

The average of the two long runs was just under 50 m.p.h., but at no time was there the slightest feeling of fatigue in the engine, brakes, or driver. The car was delightful to handle on straight highways or winding mountain roads, and was easy to park in the cities.

The maximum speed of the car by speedometer reading was 84, but with favorable conditions such as a following wind the needle went right round the clock past the 90 mark. However, long periods were covered at between 70 and 80 miles per hour, and one was surprised, and somewhat disconcerted, to find the "Minx" floating past cars of three times the price, and five times the horsepower—without any fuss at all.

This was in no way a gas economy test as the throttle was kept well opened. The mileage, however, taking into consideration the American gallon was over 30 m.p.g., and three quarts and one pint of oil were used. Not one cent was spent on the car apart from fuel and cleaning.

Altogether this was a remarkable experience, and an eye-opener as to the advance which has been made recently in the design of small English cars, to which can be added the advantages of traditional British craftsmanship. One was getting, in fact, a perfectly adequate performance for fast, long-distance travel on the world's finest roads—to say nothing of a brisk and nimble performance in city traffic—for approximately one-half the capital outlay, and one-half the running cost.

A BEAUTY ON A BUDGET

It's hard to believe the Hillman's price tag, how could so much car cost so little? How could British craftsmanship build so much solid value into a car that sells for about $1,000 less, model for model, than "low-priced" American automobiles?

You'll admire Hillman even more when you examine its complete line of economy cars: the handsome Hillman Husky Station Wagon with 44 cu. ft. of load space—the beautiful roomy Hillman 4-Door Sedan, with stylish comfort for the whole family—the stunning Hillman Minx 3-Way Sports Convertible—the luxurious Hillman Minx Station Wagon.

Move to Curb Leftist Jagan Studied by U.K.

LONDON (AP)—British sources speculated today that "safeguards" in the new constitution of British Guiana may be used to keep left-wing leader Cheddi Jagan out of power despite his landslide victory in this week's elections.

The next step in Britain's South American colony is up to the governor, Sir Patrick Renison. Newspapers here predict he will use his powers to nominate 14 more members of the legislative council to deprive Jagan's Peoples Progressive Party of the whip hand.

established. The decision rests entirely with the governor himself. He is on the spot and knows the colony and its needs.

NOT IN HURRY
"He will be consulting Dr. Jagan and other political leaders about the makeup of the executive council, over which he presides personally, and he will not doubt make an announcement in due course. But it is a difficult problem and he is not likely to be in a hurry over it."

Jagan, fiery East Indian-born dentist, is making his second big bid for power in four years. When he swept to victory in the election of 1953, Britain accused him of being a Communist fellow-traveler and suspended the colony's constitution. Renison then nominated a government.

This week's elections were held under a subsequent constitution which gives the governor, in effect, the ruling voice in the legislative council. He nominates three official and 11 unofficial members, plus a Speaker, in addition to the 14 elected at the polls. He also names an executive council of 10, including five elected members of the legislature.

THREE COURSES OPEN

The Labor newspaper Daily Herald says Britain has three possible courses of action:

1. Appoint Jagan chief minister and ask him to form a government in the hope that he will work constitutionally.

2. Use the governor's powers to secure a bare anti-Jagan majority in the council.

3. Suspend the constitution again and rule the colony through a nominated council.

"It is a difficult choice," the Herald comments. "And whatever is done, there is certainly trouble ahead."

Tories Name Candidate For Cariboo

QUESNEL, B.C. (CP)—Painting contractor J. J. Rodis was nominated unanimously Wednesday night to contest the Cariboo by-election for the Progressive Conservative party Sept. 9.

Mr. Rodis, a resident for 40 years, has acted as a returning officer in previous elections.

Twenty delegates from Quesnel and the Williams Lake districts made the choice. Provincial leader Deane Finlayson was also in attendance.

Two More Bomb Hoaxes Plague Vancouver Police

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—The second bomb scare in two days forced police to search the Vancouver Post Office Wednesday.

A post official said a hoaxer telephoned that a bomb had been set in the building and would explode at noon. Police searched the building and found nothing.

Tuesday, police checked incoming parcels at the Canadian Pacific Express depot for four hours after a man telephoned that a packaged bomb would arrive at 6.30 p.m. No bomb was found.

A series of bomb threats has plagued Vancouver since last February. In all cases a man is believed responsible for the warnings. No bomb has ever been found.

Push-Button Defence

GENERAL PEARKES HAS lately explained, with admirable clarity, his Government's plan to integrate, with the United States, the air defences of North America. Actually this plan was devised by the former Government after years of negotiation and is now approved (along with various other existing military policies) by the new defence minister. It seems to be a wise and necessary plan.

The headquarters of continental air defence is established at Colorado Springs under an American officer, General Earle Partridge of the United States Air Force. His deputy is a Canadian, Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon, presently Chief of the Air Staff. Extraordinary powers have been given to these men.

In peacetime the Colorado Springs headquarters will have no control whatever over the various units of the Canadian and American Air Forces. The Canadian command will remain with Canadians. But the headquarters will plan in advance against the moment of an enemy attack on North America, presumably across the Arctic.

Then, if a hostile aircraft is sighted and its presence reported (within seconds, General Pearkes says) to headquarters, the central command will be in complete and absolute control of the continent's safety.

It will have authority to decide, without reference to Washington or Ottawa, that an actual attack is under way and will act to repel it. Thus every aspect of air defence will be centralized under direction of one man, who can instantaneously concert the resources of the two nations.

This power is confined, however, to defence solely. It does not touch the next aspect of war, the offensive. If there is to be massive retaliation against an enemy it must be ordered by the United States Government and the President, as commander-in-chief of all forces.

Though the power centralized in Colorado Springs is indeed extraordinary and unprecedented so is the possibility of air attack across the Arctic.

Canada and the United States have established a radar screen in depth to detect enemy planes from the north but it would be useless, of course, unless it produced instant interception. In such a situation minutes and seconds would count. The two governments, therefore, were wise to place control of defence, as distinguished from attack, under a single man.

As General Pearkes says, the first officer appointed to this unique post is naturally an American, since the United States is providing for continental defence some ten times the money and men supplied by Canada. Obviously also, whether in defence or attack, any great war involving this continent will be fought mainly by the United States since it alone has the necessary resources.

No Canadian can reasonably quarrel with the choice of a supreme American commander in this joint enterprise and no American can object to a Canadian deputy, who would immediately succeed his chief if necessary during an emergency.

At present, General Pearkes says, Canada and the United States must rely for air defence on intercontinental planes. Ground-to-air missiles will take the place of planes, in part anyway, but not for some time.

Meanwhile, the defence minister adds, a plane faster than the present CF-100 is required and it may be found in the CF-105, which will fly for the first time next December. Not until it is tested will its qualities be known.

In any case this plane, and all others under the direction of the central command, will be free to fly over both Canadian and American territory without question. Any adequate continental defence, planned in advance, would be impossible otherwise. Thus the Ogdensburg Agreement, negotiated by President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Mackenzie King on Aug. 18, 1940, now enters a new phase to meet a new menace.

Delayed Answer, New Questions

MR. PHILIP ARTHUR GAGLIARDI, the most apologetic minister in charge of highways British Columbia has ever known, has issued a statement on the Cassiar-Stewart road.

Couched in the minister's characteristic terms, it is a defence of the work done on that stretch by a firm operating on a machinery rental basis by contract for which no tenders were called.

Mr. Gagliardi's words come very late.

At this date do they provide an answer to charges raised before a committee of the Legislature months ago?

Do they refute any suggestion of waste made before the committee? Is the condition of the road during Mr. Gagliardi's recent trip—and we have only his word for it—the same as it was when violent dissatisfaction with the project was aired in the Legislature?

If the minister is content with the mining access road that caused such controversy, what does he say to criticism of other roads?

Do his words answer the statement by Jim Hughes, Vancouver Tourist Association official, who forecasts the absence of vast crowds of Americans from British Columbia's centennial celebrations because so many of their countrymen have been disgusted by our highways? What is his reply to the Hughes remark that "We have not had so many complaints about roads for years"? How can he discount the logical deduction that such complaints, aired in their own communities by U.S. tourists, will discourage others from coming to this province?

Mr. Gagliardi may consider his phrase "People like Mr. Hughes have been blowing their tops for the last 25 years" an adequate rejoinder. It is by no means an answer.

Closer to home, may we draw the minister's attention to the reaction of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island to his magniloquently publicized road program. That organization contends that Vancouver Island is not getting its fair share of road work—an argument of considerable significance in view of the high revenue collected from Vancouver Island motorists.

Mr. Gagliardi has discussed some of these matters, but his arguments will leave many motorists unconvinced.

Strike 'Settlement'—Red Style

IN OUR CAPITALIST SOCIETY when a strike occurs we call in negotiators, conciliators, arbitrators. One way or another an agreement is hammered out and production resumes.

In the workers' paradise of communism, as events in the Polish city of Lodz have shown this week, when a strike occurs they call in police, security officers, and troops with bayonets and tear gas.

These forces, it should be noted, were not detailed to restrain marauding bands of rioters. They were ordered to dig out the strikers who had taken refuge in the streetcar depot and were waiting to hear from the government an answer to their demands.

The incident highlights a contrast in the two ways of life. Communist propagandists continually laud their social and economic system which, they say, gives full scope to factory committees, labor unions and other democratic forms. If the workers' advisory factory committees are operative, as claimed, it is difficult to understand how a strike condition could arise, still more difficult to explain why troops must be called in to settle wage arguments.

Apart from its philosophical implications, the Lodz strike carried other obvious lessons. It provided ample evidence that a strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction still exists in Poland despite the concessions won last year in the Poznan riots. It made equally clear that the Polish government, whatever its degree of domination by Moscow, has no intention of letting affairs get out of hand again as they did on the former occasion. Warsaw's action in rushing security forces into Lodz was fast and ruthless. Polish liberalization has definite limits.

"We never thought for a moment they would go so far as to use tear gas against us," one young striker is quoted as saying. We had no option but to return to work, said another, "most of us are married men with families."

Those two statements tell a whole story in themselves. They illustrate the two forces by which the communist state must maintain its power: force of arms and force of hunger. The implications should be lost on the peoples of the Soviet satellites, or on the peoples of the West.

'Friendship Is Friendship, But We Got to Eat'

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Public Memory

THE public memory is a great thing for statesmen because it never lasts long. If it lasted more than a day or two many eminent statesmen could hardly hope to survive. Of which principle we have lately witnessed several interesting examples. In Washington Mr. Dulles has been letting himself go in a big way, big even for Mr. Dulles, with the assurance that his words will be forgotten by next week-end at latest.

One had always supposed that the primary purpose of an American or any other foreign secretary was to maintain the nation's friendships and alliances abroad, especially in a world like this where the United States' whole defence system depends on these friendly arrangements. But it turns out now, according to Mr. Dulles, that this is an obsolete idea.

"Not for one minute," he says, "do I think the purpose of the state department is to make friends. The purpose of the state department is to look out for the interests of the United States. Whether we make friends I do not care."

THIS is an entirely new theory of foreign policy, too new even for Mr. Eisenhower. He is always trying to make friends abroad. As the best means of protecting American interests, he spends a large part of his time mollifying the feelings of foreign governments injured by the utterances of the Congress or the secretary of state.

Now we have it on Mr. Dulles' sworn testimony before a Congressional committee that friendship doesn't matter and is no concern of his.

Here Mr. Dulles is strictly consistent. He has carried his theory into operation all over the world with magnificent success. He can claim to have antagonized more foreigners than any American statesman in history.

Whether this is looking out for the interests of the United States is another question on which opinion in Washington may be divided, but you cannot say that Mr. Dulles doesn't have the courage of his convictions.

In any case, it doesn't matter what Mr. Dulles says. He has threatened from time to time to liberate the Russian satellites, to unleash Chiang Kai-shek, to engage in massive retaliation, to defend Indo-China and to undertake agonizing reappraisals of various sorts, but if most foreigners and Americans thought all this foolish and dangerous at the time it has been quickly lived down. The public memory is Mr. Dulles' real friend and ally. Without it he could not have been such a great secretary of state.

Here in British Columbia, a somewhat humbler scene of statecraft but governed by the same principles, Mr. Bennett owes a lot to a wholesome public instinct of forgetfulness. It really doesn't matter what he says. No one but a few carping critics will remember beyond next weekend—not even Mr. Bennett.

HIS latest revelation is what he calls a Canadian money market where his government, the municipalities and all deserving folk can borrow money at cheap interest rates.

One had supposed that a money market already existed in Canada, since governments and corporations have been borrowing the savings of the Canadian people on a gigantic scale for a long time now, and repaying it, quite legally, in money much less valuable.

This, however, is not a money market in Mr. Bennett's view. There just isn't enough money around for his purposes. Therefore, he says, interest rates must be reduced.

Now, it will be that a reduction in interest rates may be required if the national economy declines and, if so, lower rates will appear without delay. But under present conditions, when the demand for borrowed money is very high, interest rates can be reduced only if the government creates more money by pure monetary inflation.

THIS precisely, and nothing else, is what Mr. Bennett is demanding. He is also demanding an interest rate far lower than that prevailing in the United States, and if he had his way, of course, Canadian investors would not lend their money to him or any Canadian borrower. They would lend it to the Americans in order to get a higher price for it and thus would decrease the amount available here.

Finally Mr. Bennett wants our dollar devalued, which may finally be necessary, but he does not mention that this will instantly raise the price of all our imports and hence our cost of living.

AN economist could have a lot of fun with Mr. Bennett's statements which are almost as baffling as a good crossword puzzle, but what is the use? The public will not remember next week what he says today. Nor will he. Like Mr. Dulles it is not his business to make friends but to look after the interests of Social Credit and this he is doing as ably as Mr. Dulles looks after the interests of the United States.

Again, most of the statements made in a Canadian election two months ago already belong to the ages.

General Pearkes intended to revise our whole defence system and now announces that he plans no important changes.

The Conservatives were going to deal drastically and immediately with the erring CBC but Mr. Nowlan, the responsible minister, says nothing will be done without long and careful consideration.

MR. W. M. HAMILTON, an expert on postal affairs, denounced the old government for allowing only one mail delivery a day but now he finds that the public prefers it to more expensive stamps and therefore no second delivery has been arranged.

Mr. Fulton demanded, last November, "immediate and unrestricted asylum" for Hungarian refugees but has now closed the door against them.

In every case these statesmen may be wise, as wise even as Mr. Dulles, but they could not operate without the help of the public memory. They can rely on it.

Price of Speed

We have just returned from a lovely holiday in the Cariboo.

It seems to me so totally unnecessary, this loss of life through fast driving. Where it says "slow to 30" and whatever it is, that has been tested and it certainly is the right warning to motorists.

But there are some who pay no attention and drive at some abnormal speed. On one occasion to my knowledge, a car passed us like a flash, and we found it later with another car badly smashed and occupants of both seriously hurt. Not only is such speed foolish, but causes loss of life.

When will people learn?

Crying Need

In this fair city of Victoria there is a crying need—yes, tears are being shed by those who need it—for a nursing home within the bounds of their limited income.

Take for instance an individual who has gone through a severe operation, or it may be has suffered a stroke; in hospital all has gone well and kindly care administered.

But now with the door closed to his or her former residence where, tell me, for $66 a month (his total income) can the patient go for care until health returns?

Will not some benevolent person (and Victoria is blessed with many such) take this matter up and help to solve this problem of the needy.

"CONCERNED."

Working Mothers

Dr. J. R. Mutchmor of the United Church recently blamed the working mothers for much of the teen-age crime. "Women whose husbands earn $3,500 a year should not be working. They are working to buy television sets, cars, wall-to-wall carpeting... not of necessity," declared Mr. Mutchmor.

Many, probably most workers, are getting less than $3,500. If mothers of the $3,500 and up group have to work out to acquire television, cars and household needs, those in the lower groups are obviously doing so to provide the family's essential needs which they would otherwise be denied.

We could live without television sets. We could also live without pianos, cars and trips to the country. But such things provide pleasure and help to make life worth living. Since our capacity to produce these things is capable of satis-

The Break With the Past

IN a month and half spent shuttling back and forth across the English Channel on various errands and occasions, this reporter has formed some rather vivid and not always agreeable impressions of the present state of the Western Alliance.

Before taking to the road again it seems worthwhile to try to sort these impressions out. Beginning, then, with the second Western ally, the most striking feature of the new British Government of Harold Macmillan is the completeness of its break with the past. In this, the Macmillan government strongly resembles the Eisenhower administration.

As one looks back, the two Truman administrations seem more and more like continuations of the war period in America.

The ideas, attitudes, allied relationships and standards of national effort established during the second World War continued to dominate the American scene while Truman was in the White House. Many of the same old faces were seen at the Truman policy tables. There was the same continuity of personalities and viewpoints in London, too, during Britain's Attlee, Churchill and Eden governments.

But in London today, as in Washington four years ago, the wartime ideas and attitudes, relationships and standards, have been briskly jettisoned at last. Some of the resulting American-British echoes are really ironically exact.

For example, former Minister of Defence Anthony Head was dropped from the Macmillan cabinet, not because of Suez as is widely supposed, but simply because he refused to adopt the slogan, "Budget first, defence second"—which has so long been familiar in the Eisenhower administration.

By the same token the program of Head's successor, Defence Minister Duncan Sandys, is nothing but the famous lying everyone's needs why shouldn't we all enjoy them?

Statistics show that many live below standards of decency even today, in spite of the fact that millions of wives work out and also buy on credit. The numerous charities attest to this. This hardly supports the claim that wives are taking outside work to acquire unnecessary luxuries. What it does indicate, a fact that Mr. Mutchmor should direct his attention to, is that millions of people are living below the standards that today's abundance makes possible.

Socialism, says the socialist Labor Party, will eliminate individual want in the midst of national abundance. With social (not state) ownership and planning of industry every worker will be secure in his job and enjoy the full product of his labor. Women, freed from economic necessity of neglecting the home for outside work, will be able to devote themselves wholeheartedly to raising their families. Economic security and wholesome social conditions will sound the death knell for juvenile delinquency and crime in general.

Logger in the Circle

Much has been said with regards to a centennial project for Victoria and the Fountain Circle bottleneck. I would also offer a suggestion which would embody the two pertinent questions into one centennial project.

The city council has had different plans under study for some time with regards the Fountain Circle, but as yet it is not unanimously in accord to adopt any one of them.

As a taxpayer therefore, I humbly urge this august body to give the following suggestion due consideration. I am sure, if planned and executed properly it would ultimately cure this headache and at the same time embellish another part of Victoria.

The circle should be reduced considerably in size, enough to accommodate your much publicized statue of a logger, which I honestly agree is so symbolic of British Columbia life. By centralizing this monument, even at the expense of acquiring additional space, a square much to the style now existing in any European city would be had; thereby giving Victoria a little more of that English atmosphere.

This would result in extra lanes of traffic and by continuing with the present round about system it would ensure a more flexible and faster flow of traffic. If it becomes at all necessary a traffic signal be installed.

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Radford plan of American defence revised and adapted for British requirements.

Again, with Lord Salisbury, Sir Anthony Eden and Antony Head, the last men who have the old wartime feeling about the Anglo-American partnership have now left the British Government. Just as the last such men left the American Government in 1953. Today, Prime Minister Macmillan is the one real link with the past partnership in London, as is the President in Washington.

On top of this, there has been just the sort of thing here that occurred when Dean G. Acheson, who cared a great deal more about the atmosphere in the Western Alliance than the atmosphere on Capitol Hill, was replaced by John Foster Dulles, who put Senatorial sensitivities so far ahead of Allied sensitivities.

In the British case, the same Foreign Secretary, Selwyn Lloyd, has remained on the job, but the priorities have been altered none the less.

China Trade

The new system of priorities was revealed, for example, in the Macmillan government's decision to defy the State Department in the matter of trade with China. The Government's own experts were unanimous that Britain would not make any great economic gain by changing the China trade rules. But being publicly rude to Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was bound to delight the entire House of Commons; and so the deed was done.

All this, no doubt, was inevitable. The American policy-makers, after all, were the first to downgrade the Anglo-American partnership and the Western Alliance.

The process reached the explosion-point when Secretary Dulles having himself precipitated the Suez crisis, then blandly tried to shove his own handiwork under the rug. The result was the desperate British attempt to safeguard Britain's vital Middle Eastern interests by independent action with the French. The disastrous confusion of the Suez crisis in turn produced the present situation.

The Macmillan government, in a very real sense, is the direct consequence of the British failure at Suez. So is the stormy wave of anti-Americanism which has engulfed Britain. Suez in truth was the real turning-point, when the British break with the past occurred.

Great or Small?

The break is dangerous, moreover, not because it has produced a tendency to be publicly rude to Secretary Dulles about such matters as China trade. It is dangerous, rather, because post-Suez Britain suffers from a basic schizophrenia.

On the one hand, there is tacit acceptance of the fact that Britain cannot afford to go on acting as a really great power—which was the real reason why Lord Salisbury left the government.

On the other hand, there is the determination to be more than ever independent of the United States—which showed itself so strongly in the unsuccessful Buraimi negotiations that led on to the present risky mess in Oman.

It is easy to see that these two British attitudes are fundamentally contradictory and therefore likely to lead to bad trouble in the end. But it is also clear that this British schizophrenia will not be cured without some highly creative thinking about the future of the whole Western Alliance in Washington.

The Voice of Experience

TWICE, just lately, I've met mothers who are thinking of taking a course at night school. Both were considering Canadian history and both mentioned Social Studies 30. "We've only been in Canada 10 years," said the mother from England. "I don't really know any Canadian history. But Betty takes this course next year in high school, and I feel that I'd like to know as much about this country as she does."

"I majored in Social Studies at college," said the second mother. "But our boys were so enthused over this course when they took it in high school, that I'd like to take it myself. Only it's the thought of having to do essays that puts me off. And my memory's so hopeless these days."

Well, if I have met two mothers who feel like this, there must be plenty more adults who feel the same, so just for the fun of it, I'm going to put down what it was like to go back to school via evening classes, and what I discovered about this particular course.

I took Social Studies 30 for a variety of reasons.

I'd never done any Canadian history, because, although Canadian born, I was educated chiefly in England.

I took Social Studies 30 because one son had taken it and two others would be taking it next year.

I took it through night school instead of through a correspondence course because I thought it would be easier to work in a class, than to work all by myself with lessons just coming through the mail.

I took it because it's a matriculation course with a departmental examination at the end. And, being a mentally lazy type, I knew I'd work better if I were driven to it, and had some competition.

I didn't care about getting a credit, since I've no special desire or need to matriculate.

Ruth

So I wrote for Marks Only. Actually, I ended up with 86, and have been kicking myself that I didn't do better because, after all, junior matric is hardly the top of the educational ladder!

I also took it because I wanted to have some firsthand experience of this particular form of adult education. Moreover, I wanted to find out whether, at the age of 46, I could learn as easily as I did at the age of 16. (Had the old intelligence slipped after 30 years of marriage and raising children? Greying hair but no-grey matter!)

So much for the reasons. Now for the reactions.

I liked that course. I think I found it more interesting now than I would have done 30 years ago. I was taking it now because I wanted to, and not because I had to. It makes a difference.

I liked the studying and getting back into the atmosphere of lessons and textbooks and notes. It was good mental discipline.

I found it difficult to impress upon my household that "Mum's social studies course" was not a great big joke. I found it hard to fit any homework into the domestic schedule. Somehow, I felt guilty if I sat studying when I should be ironing or mending, or moving fluff and dust from one place to another.

But I loved my Wednesday evening of leaving the supper dishes to the family while I rushed off to school with my books clasped to my stomach in the approved high school style.

I like seeing the other people in the class. I liked the feeling of fellow-suffering as the examination date drew near.

And I must say that it was very queer to find myself sitting in an examination room on a fine June morning, and writing for dear life while the supervisory supervisor and the moon-faced clock ticked the precious minutes away.

It was like a funny, awful dream.

But, fooling apart, I like this business of going back to school. I'm just waiting now to see what courses will be offered next year.

Which course will YOU be taking?

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Asian Influenza Vaccine

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The world moves, and especially the world of science and medicine. I was much impressed with this fact today as I read the release stating that scientists in the great drug houses, working day and night for 14 days, were able to prepare a vaccine against the mild type of influenza which is now attacking thousands of people in the Orient. The vaccine is already being tested for safety and efficiency by the National Institutes of Health.

Dr. Alvarez

My mind goes back to the awful days in 1918 when I watched hundreds of people die with the very severe form of influenza which then ravaged the whole world. In those days we doctors were not even sure what the cause of the disease was. Many thought it was a germ which had been discovered years before, but they were wrong. In those days so little was known about viruses that no one could prove that a virus was at fault. Today, in many places there are groups of persons expert in isolating viruses, growing them, and then making an efficient vaccine.

ELDERLY DRIVERS

In a recent study of human factors in highway safety, Ross A. McFarland and Roland C. Moore noted that the highest accident rates are chalked up by the 16-year-old drivers. Insurance companies have found this out. The incidence of accident drops off rapidly about age 20, and then more slowly for drivers through 25 and 30 years of age. Then the rates remain fairly constant through middle age and up to age 60. The percentage of drivers at fault in an accident rose sharply after the age of 75.

During a nine-year period, over 5,000 drivers 65 years of age and older were re-examined after having had an accident, and as a result, the licenses of two-thirds of the persons were either restricted or revoked. Many elderly persons have slowed reaction times, and this is bad. If they are wise, they will compensate by driving slowly, and rarely at night. In a Harvard study, it was found that many aging truck drivers think it wise to change to another occupation when their reaction times lengthen. Another study at Cambridge University showed that the older drivers can easily become confused when, suddenly, they are confronted with a novel and complex situation which calls for some rapid reactions.

Several times on the road I have come close to death because a man past 75, coming out of his driveway and seeing me rushing down the highway toward him, froze to his wheel, became in a way paralyzed, and so drove right out in front of me. If I ever find my reflexes that slowed-up, I will certainly quit driving.

A USEFUL MEDICAL DICTIONARY

To those hundreds of people who ask me for a book that, in case of need, will tell them quickly what a medical word means, I will say that the best thing I've seen for a long time is "The Encyclopedia Guide to Nursing," by Helen Hansen, a nurse (McGraw-Hill Book Co., N.Y.). She defines beautifully over 20,000 words. Many intelligent people will want to have this book on their library shelves. Then, if the doctor tells them they have oxaluria or hepatitis or Henoch's purpura, they can quickly get a good idea of what has gone wrong.

Acid, Sour Soil Not the Same Thing

Two words commonly used to describe soil conditions are "acid" and "sour." These are quite often confused and are sometimes used as if synonymous, although they actually mean distinctly different conditions.

Acid is the opposite of alkaline. Acids and alkalis have distinctive and important chemical characteristics, and when present in the right proportions they produce the condition of neutrality.

Every soil has a typical acid-alkaline reaction which may vary from time to time according to the treatment it receives. While the majority of garden plants seem to do best in soils which are neutral to slightly acid, there are others which have a decided preference for either more alkaline or more acid conditions.

Providing a soil is neither excessively acid or alkaline, it can be considered a good soil, and plants suited to the reaction will thrive.

Therefore, acid may well be a term of commendation because it is not always a condition harmful to plants, but a soil which is sour is condemned from the start.

Sour implies lack of air and an excess of moisture, conditions unfavorable to decomposition and the breeding of soil organisms, and unsuitable for healthy plant growth.

Sour is the opposite of sweet, and an acid soil can be sweet in as much as it is suitable for growing healthy plants, but a sour soil must have its physical condition changed before it is of use to the gardener.

BUENOS AIRES (UP) — City authorities launched a drive today against the high cost of dying. Bergalli blamed the situation on "profiteers in these activities."

Social Responsibility Lacking in Graduates

EDMONTON (CP) — Although education has progressed academically it shows an increasing tendency to minimize the importance of making students conscious of social responsibility.

This was the gist of four papers presented Wednesday at the 10th annual convention of the Canadian Association of French-language educators. The convention, which ends Friday, is being attended by more than 450 delegates from across Canada.

The papers were read by Sister Marie de Sainte Madeleine-Therese, Msgr. Pierre Decary, both of Montreal, Rev. Rodrigue Normandin of Ottawa, and Claude Mailhot of Montreal.

13 Stories About Film Stars Read in 'Confidential' Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thirteen stories accusing movie stars of illicit adventures have been poured into the ears of jurors in the criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines.

The prosecution gave the recital Wednesday in an attempt to prove that the magazines libelled the subjects of the articles and published lewd and obscene matter. The stories have provoked libel suits asking nearly $35,000,000. More sex-packed stories are expected to flow from the witness stand when the trial resumes Friday after being in recess today.

Arguments were scheduled for today on the prosecution's attempt to bar the defence from calling nearly 100 movie celebrities as witnesses to ask them if stories written about were true. The prosecution contends that such testimony would be immaterial, to the 10 stories on which the grand jury indictment was based.

MONOTONOUS RECITAL

Jurors listened without changing expressions as the readers' monotonous voices droned for hours through accounts of alleged scandal.

Here are the principals and the stories:

Mae West—Her alleged predilection for "muscle men" and her employment of a negro boxer.

Robert Mitchum—The story called him "The Nude Who Came to Dinner." Mitchum sued Confidential for $1,000,000, but the action was dismissed because of a question of jurisdiction.

Dick Powell and his wife, June Allyson—"How Long Can Dick Powell Take It?" the title asked. The story said Miss Allyson was "a hubby snatcher" who carried on flirtations with her leading men.

Corinne Calvet—the "French actress, according to the story, was over-demanding of affection from her husband, John Bromfield, and later from actor Jeff Stone.

Jayne Mansfield and Mickey Hargitay—The "buxom blonde" entertained "Mr. Universe" in her home overnight, Confidential alleged.

Billy Daniels—The singer is accused of carrying on with a call girl.

Anita Ekberg and Anthony Steel—The Swedish beauty and the British actor, now married, are said by the story to have "played house long before the wedding bells rang out."

Eddie Fisher—While an army private in 1952, the singer is reported as having had a gay party with a blonde, a redhead and a brunette in a Detroit hotel.

Frank Sinatra—The story calls him "The Tarzan of the Boudoir" and says a breakfast food is the reason.

John Carroll—A report of a Hollywood swimming party in which seven girls cavorted in the nude.

Dorothy Dandridge—The story says "What Dorothy Dandridge did in the Woods" involved a romantic encounter with a man. Miss Dandridge filed a million-dollar libel suit, settled for $10,000 out of court.

Irish Swim Likely For Flo Says Youth

An English lad who has had a good second-hand experience with the Irish Sea thinks Florence Chadwick could complete her swim attempt from Ireland to Scotland if given "fair conditions and good training."

Mike Blower, 19, now an employee at Wilby's Machine Shop, was a motor launch spectator when his father, Tom Blower, made the first and last crossing in 1948.

An advertising executive for Player's cigarettes in England, Mr. Blower swam from Donaghadee, Northern Ireland, to Portpatrick, Scotland—a distance of about 22 miles—in 13 hours and a smattering of minutes. He was 35 years old at the time, 6' 1" and weighed "15 stone" (252 lbs), Mike said.

There was no prize money for the swim. "He did it for the challenge and the prestige of Britain," said his son.

Mr. Blower died in England three years ago after a total of four swims across the English Channel and one in the Irish Sea.

"Before he attempted the Irish Sea he swam for 30 hours at one stretch in an open-air pool at Nottingham," Mike said.

As "the world's greatest swimmer" American Florence Chadwick was invited to Victoria in 1954 to make the first swim attempt from Victoria to Port Angeles in 21 years. Her swim was sponsored by The Times and Bapco Paint.

At that time she held two English Channel records. Miss Chadwick swam the channel from France to England in 1950 in 14 hours and 42 minutes, breaking a record established by Gertrude Ederle. The following year she was the first woman to swim from England to France, and this year set a new English Channel record.

However, she may meet her match in the Irish Sea where the temperature never rises above 45 degrees, Mike Blower said. "The current alone may stop her. It's extremely strong, and the waters are always choppy."

Macaulay Sewer 'Absolved'

Possibility that sewage from the Macaulay Point sewer is polluting Kinvier beach has been ruled out by Esquimalt municipal engineer John Graeme.

With city sanitary inspector Elwood Gropp, Mr. Graeme surveyed the area Tuesday by boat and tested the waters off Kinvier beach for pollution.

Results of the tests were not known today, but, Mr. Graeme said, "it appeared certain to us that the beach is not being polluted by out-fall from Macaulay Point."

Esquimalt spent nearly $7,000 last month to divert sewage from the Kinvier Beach septic tank to the northwest sewer at the point.

Tests taken last week by Mr. Gropp showed the beach is still highly polluted.

Hope for Leukemia Cure Soars As Bone Marrow Aids Sufferer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 20-month-old girl, suffering from acute leukemia, has received what doctors say may be the first successful transplant of human bone marrow.

The child is Laura MacDonald of suburban Drexel Hill. The transplant was made from her twin sister, Mary. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacDonald.

Laura was released today from Fitzgerald Mercy Hospital with the leukemia no longer evident, though doctors say it could return. She was admitted in mid-June in poor condition from the disease, which is a cancer of the blood cells and almost always fatal.

DESPERATE MEASURES
"Because little hope was held for her survival," a hospital spokesman said, "heroic measures were agreed upon when it was discovered that Laura's twin, Mary, had the same blood type as hers. The decision was made to try to transplant Mary's healthy bone marrow to her sister."

"On July 11 Laura underwent a massive dose of total body irradiation in an effort to destroy the diseased marrow immediately before the transplant."

"The following day the children were taken to an operating room where marrow was drawn from Mary's shin and hip bones into syringes treated with anti-coagulants. This marrow was then injected into Laura's blood stream."

"The youngster responded steadily to the transplant and had no violent reaction. In the ensuing days, there has been an encouraging improvement in the condition of her blood."

The attending physicians, who declined to be identified, issued this statement:

"This is not to be construed as a cure for acute leukemia. This possibly may be the first probable successful transplant of marrow from one twin to another with the preliminary use of new anti-leukemic medicines and irradiation, and there has been a favorable effect upon the leukemia, the end result of which will require a much longer period to evaluate."

CUBA TO NAB U.S.-OWNED 'REBEL' ACRES

HAVANA (UP)—A government spokesman announced today that Cuba intends to expropriate 300,000 U.S.-owned acres in rebel-infested Oriente province for distribution to some 50,000 "squatters" living on the land.

Sen. Rolando Masferrer said Agnes L. Dana, of New Orleans, will be paid a "fair price" for the property, which is owned by her Cuban development company.

Political foes of President Fulgencio Batista continued their campaign against the government. An office-building janitor here was killed Wednesday by a bomb set off by the opposition.

Service Club Studies Plan To Boost 'Goodwill' Firm

BY NORMAN CRIBBENS
Wanted — more room for handicapped men and women to go about the business of earning a living.

This is not an advertisement, but it might well be. It expresses the need of those valiant, stout-hearted people who defy their physical disabilities by producing saleable articles in an old-fashioned store and workshop operated by Goodwill Enterprises at 816 Yates Street.

Fortunately, there is a good chance they will soon have the premises they need. A leading Victoria service club is considering taking over the finances of the company and giving it a chance to expand.

EMPLOY SIX

"This would be a wonderful solution to our problem," says Fred Blakeney, the organizing genius behind Goodwill Enterprises. "At the moment we are only able to employ six handicapped people—five men and a girl."

"We could take dozens more if we had the accommodation." Himself a victim of muscular dystrophy (a wasting disease of the muscles), Fred started Goodwill Enterprises on Feb. 1, 1956.

Its aim is to provide employment and wages for handicapped persons by enabling them to renovate and repair articles of clothing and apparel for resale in the store.

Fred drives to his office every day in a small electric car, propels it right up to his desk and stays there all day while he transacts the business of the firm.

The public is invited to donate old garments (children's particularly welcome) and articles such as broken necklaces, odd earrings, broken teapots, broken picture frames and crippled chairs.

Such items are taken to the upstairs workshop and converted into good second-hand merchandise.

"We do not pass anything off as new," says Fred Blakeney. "though sometimes we produce an article that looks like new."

NON-PROFIT

He explained that Goodwill Enterprises is a limited liability company with a non-profit clause. This means that all monies left over at the end of the fiscal year are used in the form of bonuses for the employees.

"During our first year of operation we cleared all expenses and can truthfully say we are in the black. With a solid investment behind us we could really go places."

An important part of the training at Goodwill Enterprises is restoring confidence.

ILL-TEMPERED

"In the early stages of his illness, the handicapped person is liable to become an ill-tempered, moody introvert. By engaging in useful work, he soon loses his sense of frustration."

"I can name at least half a dozen people trained here who have taken jobs in industry alongside able-bodied people," says Fred.

"After all, disability is only relative. A fit man placed in front of a sewing machine is a handicapped person if he does not know how to use it. But a girl who cannot use her legs may be a highly efficient secretary if she is trained."

Persons wishing to donate disused articles to Goodwill Enterprises are invited to telephone Fred at 2-8315. He will then have them collected.

Wheelbarrow Useful Tool For Burglars

A wheelbarrow was used to cart away a quantity of cigarettes stolen from Super-Valu store at Head and Esquimalt Tuesday night, Esquimalt police report.

Break-in was discovered at 6 a.m. by a beat constable. It was the second break-in in Greater Victoria in the past two nights where a wheelbarrow was used.

Thieves took the safe from Burnside Pharmacy, 30 West Burnside, Monday night, broke it open in Qu'Appelle Park across the street and took a total estimated $200 cash from it and the store till.

Safe at the supermarket was undisturbed.

Lutherans Gather for 10-Day Meet

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Banding under the theme "Christ frees and unites," one of the world's largest Protestant Church groups convenes here tonight for the 10-day Lutheran World Federation assembly.

Seven hundred delegates from 57 church bodies, embodying some 50,000,000 of the world's estimated 70,000,000 Lutherans, will be seated when the opening sermon is delivered by an Iron Curtain bishop, Lajos Ordass of Hungary.

The Canadian delegates are Dr. Rex Schneider, principal of the Lutheran College, Regina; Dr. Olaf Storassil, president of the Lutheran Seminary, Saskatoon; Dr. Albert G. Jacob, president of the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Canada, Kitchener, Ont.; and Dr. Earl J. Treusch, executive-director of the Canadian Lutheran Council, Winnipeg.

Five other Canadians will attend as official visitors. Business sessions begin Friday morning.

Immediate 20c Wheat Payment Asked as Farmers Meet Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—An Inter-provincial Farm Union council delegation met with Prime Minister Diefenbaker and his cabinet today and recommended the government make an immediate adjustment payment to farmers of 20 cents a bushel of wheat on the 1956-57 crop year deliveries.

The brief also recommended a payment on oats and barley to bring the farm price, to producers to a level the same as the payment on wheat.

The brief's emergency program also included the institution of a two-price system on wheat, cash advances on farm-stored grain, PFAA benefits to hail damaged and flooded areas, and import restrictions to protect the Canadian producer against heavy shipments of produce at firesale prices.

Council members are from the Farmers' Union of Alberta, Saskatchewan Farmers' Union, Manitoba Farmers' Union, Ontario Farmers' Union and the Farmers' Union of British Columbia.

The brief said a cost-price-squeeze has taken a heavy toll in grain-growing areas during the last three years, and that ever-increasing production costs, inability of farmers to get cash from grain sales, and below-cost return for grain delivered, make it necessary for an emergency program to be implemented.

The 1957-58 crop year has started with grain storage capacity taxed to the limit, the brief said, and although this year's crop yields will be substantially reduced due to drought and flooding, it will not make any contribution toward easing the acute financial situation of farmers in many areas.

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

There's a remarkable collection of golfing muscles and cheerful smiles on display at Victoria Golf Club this week.

Most fairway flailers go through their playing days hoping to break 80 once in a while. Yet there are a bunch of men cavorting in the 70s during a tournament where you must have watched 55 summers drift by before you can walk up to the first tee.

Some have been whacking golf balls since their teens. Others were bitten by the bug of bunkers and bogies in later years. But whatever their backgrounds, they give the impression that the best tonic for keeping aging muscles flexible is a happy-go-lucky disposition.

When they came down the home stretch in Monday's qualifying round, it was a couple of genial veterans among the seniors — Dr. Oscar Willing of Portland and Tacoma's Roger Peck — who were out in front with 71s, only two strokes over par figures on a course that is playing longer than its measured 5,997 yards.

And there were others like them who qualified with 77 or better, including Ralph Whaley of Seattle, who has won this Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament eight times, and Vancouver's 66-year-old Harry Rendell.

Youth, if the term can be applied to a seniors' tourney, has taken over in match play. Whaley and Peck slumped to the sidelines Tuesday and Rendell, a former professional wrestler who still belts the ball a fair furlong off the tees, yesterday ran into Portland's Bill Blakely on a hot day. Blakely, a one-handcapper who is a comparative youngster at 56, was two under par on the front nine and able to coast to a comfortable victory.

Dr. Willing ran into trouble on the outgoing trip and although he managed a bit of a rally against Paul Piggott, lost his chance to add a second title to his 1954 crown when the Seattle industrialist, another newcomer to the tourney, fired a birdie to close out the match on the 15th green.

Although some of his skills deserted him yesterday, it still seemed amazing that the Portland dentist, at 67, and with a half-century of golf behind him, had been able to flirt with par on the two previous days.

Won First Major Title 37 Years Ago

It was 37 years ago that Willing broke through with his first major tournament victory, when he picked up the first of five Oregon State championships.

Among his other titles since then are a pair of Northwest Open crowns, the Northwest amateur title and the Oregon State Open.

He was runner-up in the U.S. amateur in 1929 and reached the British Amateur semis before being ousted by Roger Weathered.

Three times a member of the U.S. Walker Cup team, Willing probably fired his greatest successive rounds over his home Waverly Golf and Country Club course, 30 years ago, when he toured the par-72 layout in 64 and 65 strokes.

But his most memorable victory may have come in a match that won't be found among official records. When Willie Hunter was the reigning British amateur king, a group of Californians brought Hunter to Vancouver and matched him against Willing to show the Northwest fans the finer points of golf.

They were also eager to pick up any loose Canadian money, especially after Hunter moved into a five-hole lead at the halfway point in the 36-hole match. But they went home with sadder hearts and flatter pocketbooks after Willing surged back to nose out the British champ on the 36th green.

Need Competition to Keep Game Sharp

Willing believes there are about five strokes difference on an average between his present scores and what he would have turned in 25 years ago.

Still deadly with short irons and on the greens, he loses strokes now because of lack of concentration and shorter tee shots. "Concentration is the main thing," he says. "I'm playing for fun now and can't keep my mind on the game. You need competitive golf to keep your game sharp."

And he keeps trying to improve his game. "I was pushing the ball today," he remarked after losing to Piggott, "and didn't figure out that I wasn't pivoting enough until it was too late. And I've learned a couple of other things during the week that I have made notes of and will work on when I get back home."

Dr. Willing, it seems, is living proof that you're never too old to learn.

Water Perfect, But Campbell Fails in Bid

CANANDAIGUA, N.Y. (UP)

Donald Campbell, world's water speed king, failed again today to crack his record of 225 miles per hour in a run over Lake Canandaigua in his jet-propelled hydroplane, Bluebird.

With the lake mirror-smooth and conditions generally about perfect, Campbell flashed over the south leg of the mile course at 195.03 miles an hour—fastest time of his three attempts here so far this summer.

On the return north run, Campbell was timed in 175.9 m.p.h. for an average of 185.5, still far below his record established last year at Lake Coniston, Eng.

With conditions so ideal, Campbell indicated he might make further speed runs today.

Royals Down Saints For Soccer Crown

VANCOUVER (CP) — New Westminster Royals defeated St. Andrews of Vancouver 3-2 Wednesday night to take the second half of the Pacific Coast soccer league summer schedule.

The Royals now meet Vancouver Halecos, first half winners, for the league championship.

Art Hay notched the Royals' first goal early in the first half. He was followed by Jack Hobbs and Alex McKay to give New Westminster a 3-0 half-time lead.

Bill Moffat made it 3-1 with a St. Andrews goal late in the second half. Jim Wilson's goal still left the Vancouver squad one goal shy as the final whistle sounded.

Trainer Hugh Fontaine said Needles was "better than ever" after a long layoff, and that Dave Erb would fly here from Chicago to ride the three-year-old champion of 1956.

Baltimore's George Zuverink, making his 45th relief appearance, halted a Washington rally in the eighth inning and preserved Hal Brown's fifth win.

CUT FIELD IN HALF

Tam's Circus Due for Change

CHICAGO (AP) — Tam o' Shanter's four-ring golf circus, during which approximately $150,000 in cash is distributed, may have its huge field trimmed in half next year.

This was indicated Wednesday by George S. May, 67-year-old owner of the plush course at suburban Niles, Ill. At the same time May denied rumors Tam o' Shanter would be sold for subdivision purposes.

"We're working on plans for next year's All-American and world tournaments," said May. "We're considering very seriously cutting the field to approximately half the size it was this year. That would protect the course and make for a better tournament."

A total of 237 golfers, including men and women in pro and amateur fields, started the All-American on August 1. Considerably fewer due to cuts and withdrawals, wound up the "world" last Sunday.

It has been the same virtually since May started his golf carnival in 1941, and every year—by the final round—the fairways are pocked with divots and the greens specked with ball marks and spike prints.

The trampling of the course by thousands of spectators, is another matter, but—at $3 a person—that's a big part of the game for the players and May, alike. Even then, May this year eliminated 84,000 free tickets which lightened the traffic at Tam considerably.

Guesses were attendance dropped from around 61,000 on the final day of the 1956 "world" to some 30,000 this year. May is awaiting an audit to learn whether the complex to tournament lost money this year.

Seals Alive, But Lucky To Get Away

By THE UNITED PRESS

San Francisco Seals are probably the luckiest team in the Pacific Coast League. They are getting out of Vancouver before they wind up in last place.

Though the Seals are still top dog in the PCL, it's only by the skin of their teeth. Mounties cut the difference to two games Wednesday by drubbing San Francisco, 5-1. San Francisco hopped down to Portland for what should be an easy series against the Beavers, while Vancouver takes on tough Hollywood in southern California.

Some 10,404 fans, a record crowd in Vancouver, watched their team take its fourth consecutive win from the Seals. With the score tied 1-1, Mounties unloaded for four runs off starter Bill Prout in the eighth to cinch the win. Don Ferrarese gave up four hits to win his sixth against five losses.

Buddy Peterson scored the first run for the winners with a homer in the fifth, and Heywood Sullivan tied it up in the seventh with a round tripper for San Francisco's only score. In other games, Seattle dumped third place San Diego, 6-5. Hollywood downed Los Angeles, 9-4, in a 10-inning battle, while Sacramento defeated Portland 6-4.

Semifinal Slot For MacKenzie

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP) —

Bremerton's Dick Price of Longview, Wash., moving to ward his third straight Washington State amateur golf championship, overturned two more opponents Wednesday to gain a berth in the semifinals. Medalist Gordon MacKenzie, Seattle university golfer from Vancouver, gained another semifinal spot by beating F. Kahn of Bremerton 5 and 5 in the morning-and-Monte-Shebel of Olympia 2 up in the afternoon.

Today MacKenzie will play Bob Norquist of Portland, who beat John Sivertsen of Tacoma 2 and 1 and Bob Guerin of Bremerton 3 and 1.

Price moved into one of today's semifinals against John Edmonds, Bremerton, a comparative unknown who scored the upset of the day in downing Bob Pratt of Salem, Ore.

FIGHT RESULTS

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—Dawny Moore, 128, Springfield, Ohio, outboxed Victor Manuel Quijano, 120, Mexico City, 10.

Fletchers Too Warm For Firemen to Handle

Fletchers belied their final second-place standing in the Senior "B" Men's Softball League again Wednesday night when they won the final game in their best-of-five championship playoff with Firefighters, 5-2, at Heywood Avenue Park.

It was the third straight playoff win for the Fletchers. They beat Smokies 4-2 Sunday and 7-2 Tuesday for a clean series sweep over the league leaders.

Fletchers now move into the Island championships against Ladysmith in a best-of-three series. First game will be played in the up-Island centre Saturday, Aug. 24, with the second game at Heywood Park Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

If necessary, a third game will be played here Aug. 25 at 6:30 p.m.

GOOD START

Opening fast, Fletchers drove home four tallies in the top of the first, but Firemen came bouncing back in their half

WINS THREE MATCHES

Susie Makes Up For Lost Time

For Victoria's Sue Butt, the action comes in flurries.

Idle for her first two days as she won first-round singles and ladies' doubles matches by default, last year's Canadian junior ladies' champion finally got some action in the Canadian tennis championships at Montreal, Wednesday.

She made up for lost time by winning a total of three matches.

Miss Butt entered the quarter-finals in the senior singles with a 4-6, 6-2, 9-7 win over Patty Miller, of Portland, and then paired with Vancouver's Paul Willey in the mixed doubles for a 6-1, 6-1 win over Mrs. E. Arusoo and L. Dutil, of Montreal.

Miss Butt then combined forces with Mrs. Annie Bagge-Vieria to down Mrs. Mariette Laframboise and Barbara Cotton, of Ottawa, 6-0, 2-6, 6-4.

In the men's singles, meanwhile, first-seeded Bob Bedard moved into the semi-finals with an 8-6, 9-7, 3-6, 6-2 victory over Straight Clark, of Philadelphia.

Willey went down to defeat at the hands of bright young Brazilian Davis Cupper, Carlos Fernandez, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1. Fernandez now meets Ramanathan Krishnon, of India, top-ranked foreign entry, who stopped veteran Henri Rochon, of Montreal, 7-5, 6-4.

Mary Loses Rifle Trophy In Shoot-Off

A blond, blue-eyed Victoria housewife stole the show and almost walked away with the Connaught Trophy at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association shoot at Connaught Ranges Wednesday.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, whose husband is only an on-looker at these events, was one of three shooters who took part in a dusk-filled shootoff for the prize.

She tied with Lieut. Nelson Colville of Edmonton, and Cpl. John Hedger of Petawawa, with a perfect 100 in the regular round. All three marksmen shot doubles in the initial round with 10 bull's-eyes from 300 yards and 10 from 600 yards for their perfect scores.

In the shootoff, Mrs. Robinson placed second to Lieut. Colville with Cpl. Hedger in third place.

ANOTHER SHOOTOFF

A second shootoff was necessary in the Macdonald event when Bisle veteran Lieut. Col. Eric Cowan tied with three others: Lieut. Eric Pandrup, Sgt. Arnold Par and 17-year-old Russell Potter. All shooters had 124 out of a possible 125 from the 300 and 600-yard ranges.

In the shootoff Lieut. Col. Cowan placed first, followed by Lieut. Pandrup, second; Sgt. Par, third, and Potter, fourth.

Mrs. Robinson was the only one of the B.C. shots at the competitions to place near the leaders.

In the Macdonald, Sgt. Smokey Green, of Chilliwack, had 120, as did Sgt. Roy Scott and Lieut. F. C. Sullivan. At 119 were Bill Lightburn and CPO Walter Burch, of Victoria, while shooting in the 118 range were Earl Jamieson, Gar Ross, Vancouver, Pete Lunn and Ron McCreedy, Victoria.

Island Tug Meets Jokers Tonight In Playoff Opener

Jokers and Island Tug open their playoff for the city senior "B" lacrosse championship at Stevenson Park tonight, starting at 6:30.

Winner of the series has two chances of winding up with the provincial crown.

The city champion is scheduled to clash with the Mainland titleholder in the B.C. playoff and could win the title on the approved manner.

However, the West Kootenay and Okanagan leagues are reported to have withdrawn from the B.C. Lacrosse Association and the Victorians may be awarded the championship.

Jokers' manager Roy Woolsey has named the following players for tonight's game: Bill Cove, Vic Sage, Willie Walein, Paul Calvey, A. Moore, Bob Coats, Bill McCoy, Jim Lewis, Bill Donnelly, Russell West, Fred Baisdon, D. Homer, J. McLeod and J. Harley.

EGYPTIANS BEAT HIM; FREED ISRAELI CHARGES

BEERSHEBA, Israel (Reuters)—An Israel seaman whom Egyptian authorities took off a ship going through the Suez Canal complained Wednesday the Egyptian guards whipped him at the start of his three weeks of captivity.

Rafi Eylon, seaman turned free-lance journalist, was released Wednesday and returned to Israel.

He told a press conference here he was whipped during the first three days of his imprisonment but that conditions were "good" for the rest of the time.

$900,000 Loss In 7 Years Claimed at Empress Hotel

The Empress Hotel has lost $900,000 in the last seven years of operation, a conciliation board was told by a dissenting member.

A. G. E. Robbins, employer's nominee to the board which made recommendations on a wage dispute between the Empress Hotel and Crystal Garden and 400 employees, in a minority report wrote:

"No well-managed company is going to sustain such financial losses as the Empress Hotel is enduring, year after year, without taking some drastic action to mitigate them."

Mr. Robbins joined with board chairman W. G. Stone and George Home, union nominee, in recommending a general wage increase totalling nine per cent spread over one year.

However, he dissented from the majority recommendation that 1½ per cent of the payroll—$1,033,720 in 1956—be set aside to cover the cost of adjustments of wage rates between individual classifications. Mr. Robbins declared the sum, involving about $15,000, could be "the straw that broke the camel's back." He recommended that it be limited to a ceiling of $7,500 in view of the hotel's operating expenses which will be increased by the general raise and other benefits.

A health and welfare plan, previously agreed to by the company and the union, is to be written into the proposed two-year agreement.

Local 276 of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and Other Transport Workers has voted to accept the majority report. Originally, it asked a 25 per cent wage increase.

Sharp Drop In Canada's Wheat Export

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wheat exports dipped to 240,000 bushels in the first 11 months of the last crop year from 281,000,000 in the year previous.

This was about one-half the exports of the United States which increased shipments to 486,700,000 bushels from 318,500,000 in 1955-56, the bureau of statistics reported today.

The last crop year ended July 31. It was understood unofficially that Canada's total wheat and flour exports for the full year amounted to about 261,000,000 bushels, sharply down from 309,000,000 in the year previous.

Exports of 261,000,000 bushels would place Canada's wheat carryover at July 31 at an all-time high of about 660,000,000 bushels, up sharply from the 540,600,000 a year ago.

However, there may be some revisions in federal estimates of last year's wheat stocks and this may have some effect on the carryover figure. An official estimate of the carryover will be made public Friday.

WRESTLERS FLOOR FANS

NAKANOJO, Japan (AP)—An enterprising bicycle shop owner installed a television set on the second floor of his place of business and invited his customers to gather there. Midway through a wrestling show, the floor collapsed. One person was injured, and the TV set was smashed.

India Frees 15,000 Convicts In Celebrating 10th Birthday

NEW DELHI (UP)—India celebrated its 10th independence day today by carting away statues reminiscent of British rule and releasing some 15,000 convicts from civil and military prisons.

For most Indians, the observance also marked the 100th anniversary of the Indian mutiny, which is now regarded here as this country's "first war of independence."

MENTAL GIANT AT 6

British Boy Wizard Has School Problem

LONDON (Reuters) — The boy who knew too much has a whiz at mathematical problems, crossword puzzles and a 12,000-mile journey in search of just the right kind of school.

84-Year-Old Rector Still Going Strong

CALGARY (CP) — A Calgary clergyman has begun his 84th year with energy that might well be envied by men half his age.

Canon E. William Herbert, assistant rector of the Cathedral Church of the Redeemer, has been in the Calgary Anglican diocese for 50 years.

He is as active as ever he was, giving private Communion to shut-ins and visiting the parish's three hospitals and six nursing homes. He says he would not be happy if he were not working.

Born in England, Canon Herbert studied there and in Canada.

"Actually I never really had much time for schools, because I was so anxious to get out working in the parish," he said.

Since he has been unable to get insurance on his car, he goes around the parish on foot, often carrying a heavy bag with the articles needed for a Communion service.

One thing that bothers the canon is that he cannot do everything he would like to do. "I guess it's like that for every clergyman who is interested in his work," he remarked philosophically.

WEAKER SEX STRONG BET BEHIND WHEEL

TORONTO (CP) — If you climb into a taxi in front of a Toronto hotel these days you can forget all those tales about women drivers.

Toronto licensed three women taxi drivers this summer, and all are enthusiastic about the job. Customers can relax and enjoy the ride.

Margaret Smith, 37, the first to receive her licence, is also one of the first Negro women drivers.

"About half my fares have been women, and they are all in favor of the idea of having women cab drivers," she said. "I think the time will come when all the cabs will be driven by women during the daytime."

The two other women cabs here are Christina Borush and Julie Alperin-like Margaret, experts at the wheel.

Wedding Bells to Seal Courtship by Mail

SARNIA, Ont. (CP) — A Sarnia boy and an English girl first letters until Jack sent who kept up a courtship by mail between Canada and England are to be married here soon.

Margaret Slater, 17, of Risley, in Derbyshire, and Jack Willis, 19, of Sarnia, started their correspondence in September, 1955, when Margaret asked her visiting aunt, Mrs. James O'Dell, of Sarnia, to find a pen pal for her. Mrs. O'Dell suggested Jack, and was on hand to greet her. "Jack the two young people took over from there."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answers each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Frank Schimaneck, 11, Allentown, Penna., for his question:

Are Penguins Birds or Animals?

Penguins, as everyone knows, live in the chilly south polar regions. Few people get to see them in their native homes. From a distance, no one could be blamed for mistaking the cute little fellows for seals, or even for small human beings. But penguins are birds, complete with feathers, beaks and wings. They have birds' feet, webbed for swimming, and the wings are used as flippers in the water instead of for flying in the air.

Right now the penguins are having the time of their lives. For penguins love people and there are more human visitors down at their chilly home than ever before. This is in the International Geophysical Year. And experts from 12 nations—speaking six different languages—are on and around the cold continent of Antarctica to study geography, the ocean currents and the weather.

The penguins were there to greet the advance ships when they arrived in 1956. As is proper for penguins, they lined up in erect, dignified rows to welcome their visitors. The older members, looking like aldermen ready to hand over the keys of the city, planned to wait there for a formal introduction. But some of the young fellows, unable to control their excitement, ran forward on their sunny flat feet, waving their flippers and squawking hellos.

The penguins do not always act like dignified aldermen. They are very sociable fellows and they love to play. In fact, they turn work into play—a trick which your old Andy practices all the time. Work for the penguins is swimming and diving for fish—especially for sardines which they enjoy most. When they all plunge into the water you might mistake them for a frolicking troop of high-spirited fifth graders.

Another important job for the penguins, as it is for everyone, is bringing up the children. This, too, they make into a happy social event. Sometimes 100,000 of them form a colony to nest and rear the gawky youngsters. In some cases, Junior Penguin is an only child and there is rarely more than one pair of twins in a family. Mom and Pop are devoted to their young.

Surrounded by friendly neighbors, parents often swap baby sitting duties and help out in emergencies. There are 17 varieties of penguin. All the cousins wear neat, formal attire—dark coats and pale-colored vests. Only two bears, or even for small human beings, of the icy fringes of Antarctica. One is the Emperor Penguin. He is the giant of the family, standing three feet tall. He wears a charcoal jacket, black hat and face and he sports a handsome canary-colored vest from chin to feet. His companion on the Cold Continent is the smaller Adelie Penguin. The remaining cousins live on the chilly, rocky islands throughout the far southern seas.

Penguins gave up flying countless generations ago. The wings, used for swimming, lost their pinions and developed into flippers. But they are birds, none the less. However, birds, too, are classed as belonging to the Animal Kingdom—for they are living creatures and certainly not plants. Mr. Penguin, then, is an animal and a bird, though not related to the seals, the bears or even to human beings—much as we would like to have the funny fellow for a cousin.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World-Globe to Marcel Giroux, age 14, of Drummondville, Quebec, for the question:

What speed must a rocket have to go to the moon?

A rocket to the moon must travel fast enough to escape the gravity of the earth. Otherwise it would travel up just so high and then—like everything else that goes up—it must come down. We call the speed necessary to escape the pull of the earth escape velocity.

The escape velocity for the rocket to the moon must be about seven miles a second. This is about 25,000 miles an hour. At that speed, a ship can escape the pull of the earth's gravity and take off for the vastness of empty space. Once beyond the gravity of earth our rocket can fly without fuel. On the return trip, things will be easier. The escape velocity from the moon is only 1.5 miles a second because of the moon's smaller mass and gravity.

Simple Commodities Missed Most by Canucks in Mid-East

SHARM EL SHEIKH, Egypt (CP) — The simple things are the most sorely missed by Canadians and Swedes stationed in this picturesque, torrid and potentially explosive area at the mouth of the Gulf of Aqaba.

The tents and brick buildings housing the Swedish Rifle Company and the six-man detachment of the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals are on a sun-baked mesa overlooking a blue lagoon, a wide bay and the Red Sea and the gulfs of Aqaba and Suez beyond.

Eastward the moon-like mountains of Saudi Arabia and the islet of Tiran appear blue in the haze generated by the 140-degree temperature. Westward, the flat, yellow sands erupt into the multi-colored and barren Sinai Mountains. It was into these jagged peaks that Moses led his people from Egypt and received the law centuries ago.

Rare and precious here is a glass of cold water, a chilled beer or a cool soft drink. Usually liquids are tepid at worst hot.

"I'd give anything for a glass of fresh milk," said Cpl. Bryan Hogg of Vancouver, the radio mechanic with the RCSC detachment.

"When I go on leave in Beirut, the first thing I'm going to do is head over to the American snack bar for a quart or two of the stuff."

Only the most perishable foods can be kept cool in the limited refrigeration space. Two household-size refrigerators serve this 125-man base in the hottest section of the Sinai Desert.

Twice weekly, ice is trucked about 70 miles from an ice plant at El Tur on the Gulf of Suez. It's usually gone a day later.

Even drinking water is causing some concern. The Canadian signals detachment gets its supply from Abu Suweir, almost 200 miles away. The Swedish company uses water from an Egyptian reservoir. It is expected to be exhausted within a month.

Heat and boredom are the main enemies of the troops here. Sharm el Sheikh is a near any accessible centre of the population the troops could visit for a break.

"Sure we're isolated," said Sgt. Bob Emo of Toronto, the man in charge of the signallers. "But one compensation is that you can do your job your own way."

There are few organized recreation facilities. The Swedes periodically get films sent in. The Canadians have a ping pong table complete with bats but no balls. The Swedes have flippers and masks for underwater exploration among the coral reef formations and schools of tropical fish.

To beat the heat, the troops discard shirts and trousers in favor of bathing trunks or shorts. All are tanned almost a chocolate color. All but the most essential work halts when the blazing sun hits its zenith.

Royalty or Mad Man, He Traveled With All

MONTREAL (CP) — Alexander Stewart, who has just retired as a Canadian National Railways police inspector, met royalty, prime ministers and one madman during his 37 years with the force.

"During my service I must have traveled several thousands of miles, many of them escorting members of the Royal Family," he said in his home in nearby St. Lambert.

Once he was held at gun point for over an hour, by a madman. "I was investigating some cable-breaking near St. Hubert, Que., when I saw a man crossing the railway track with a gun," said Mr. Stewart. "I went after him but he refused to listen and held me at gun point."

"He finally ran away." The man was caught the next day and certified insane.

ROYAL MEMENTO — Mr. Stewart has a picture signed by the Queen and Prince Philip. It is for his service to them on their Canadian tour when the Queen was still Princess Elizabeth.

Mr. Stewart also escorted the late King George VI and Queen Mother Elizabeth when they made their Canadian tour before the Second World War.

He has been security officer to Sir Winston Churchill, the late King George VI and Queen Mother Elizabeth when they made their Canadian tour before the Second World War.

Trans-Ocean Romance For English Girl Off

ARCADIA, Wis. (UP) — An English teenage girl has announced that wedding plans with the ex-GI she crossed the ocean to marry are "definitely" off.
Ruth Owen, 17, however, didn't know if she would move from the farm home of her ex-fiance, James Grulkowski, 22, or look for a job in this country.

Miss Owen has been staying at Grulkowski's home, giving his mother "a little bit" of help around the house and trying to disentangle her snarled romance. She said the most recent barrier thrown in her path—religious differences—had nothing to do with her decision. The port brunette met Grulkowski at a dance while he was serving overseas in England. When he returned home, he sent her $350 and told her to come to the United States: Object matrimony.
No member of the Grulkowski family met Miss Owen when she arrived in New York, so she proceeded to Wisconsin, arriving there financially exhausted.

'NOT MUCH PLEASURE' ANYWAY

Movie Comics Better to Kiss Than Leading Men Says Martha

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You girls can stay with the movie glamor boys. Martha Hyer will take the comics.
We're talking about screen love-making, of course. And the pretty boys leave Martha cold.
"They're always worried about camera angles, and whether their noses are pressed against your cheek and if their best sides are being photographed," the luscious blonde complained. "The result is that their kisses are cold. Just nothing."
"Of course, there's not much pleasure in kissing for the movies, anyway. You're always thinking about your next line or if the kiss is lasting too long to be passed by the Johnston office."
"But I must say it is more fun with comedians than anybody. They don't care how they look, so they can put their hearts into it. They are an uninhibited lot, so they let themselves go in a clinch. I like 'em."
Martha knows whereof she speaks. Her last four films have had her cavorting with comics.
"It's not easy working with many of the handsome leading men," she commented. "Many of them have been thrust into fame rapidly. They are insecure. They don't know how to handle themselves, and so they are dull to be with."
"But comedians! Most of them have worked for years in night clubs or vaudeville. They can handle any situation. They may be neurotic personally, but at least they are secure in their work. They know what they are doing."
Martha thinks there's a laugh cycle coming in films, and she could be right. The studios are finally loosening up with some comedies after years of grim fare.
One of the reasons the studios backed away from comedy was that so much was being ladled forth on TV—or at least what passed for comedy. Now, with the age of the TV comic fading, movies could fill in the void.

Rationing of Water Ends For Off-Flooded Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — Greater potential water supply for Winnipeg, which periodically suffers from floods, emerged today from water rationing. An aqueduct runs 97 miles southeast to Shoal Lake, an arm of the Lake of the Woods. Its far-sighted builders in 1919 gave it a capacity of 85,000,000 gallons a day.

But they stopped the aqueduct 13 miles short of the city and built a pipeline which allowed 50,000,000 gallons a day to reach the Greater Winnipeg system.

HAD 1963 TARGET
No problems had been faced up to this year. Thought had been given to increasing the flow but it was believed 1963 would be early enough to start. Critics say provincial legislation which tied the district water board's hands must be changed and the board given authority to make capital expenditures just as other public utilities do. Civic leaders have been told by Mr. Hurst they must expand the supply by 1959 or face a crisis.

This allows the district two years to get approval for the project, either by a 60 percent favorable vote by plebiscite or through change in legislation, and to construct additional secondary piping from the aqueduct to the water system. Capacity would be increased to the aqueduct's 85,000,000-gallon limit at a cost of $10,000,000.

Service Term Longer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Future pilots of the United States Air Force are going to have to serve five years instead of three. In announcing the two-year extension of duty, officials said the move is aimed at economy, as air force pilots have been spending two years and three months of their three years becoming combat-ready. At the end of the three years, two out of three pilots have quit the service.

In city police court Wednesday:
Jim John Palou, RCN, $50 and three-month driver's licence suspension for careless driving.

Mohan Singh Dillon, 94 Simms, $10 for driving without fender flaps, $10 for operating without an automatic signal device and three-month driver's licence suspension.

Raymond Joseph Holleran, Camp Gordon Head, $25 for driving without a licence.

Movie Maker Dies

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Harry Jacques Revier, 55, a veteran movie maker in Hollywood, France and England, died Wednesday. He produced about 300 pictures, including many westerns and some of the Tarzan series.

HOLIDAY PLANS CHANGED

Better Tourist Trade Balance Sought by French Devaluation

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN

PARIS (AP) — The average Frenchman is putting out more money for his vacation—or changing his vacation plans—as a result of his government's new austerity program of higher taxes and a semi-devaluation of the franc in terms of the dollar and pound.

But up to now, this is about the only aspect of the government fiscal program which concerns him. It's summer, and the average Frenchman is thinking of virtually nothing but vacation.

When the state of the franc enters his mind at all, it is, for example, wondering if the Riviera hotel room will be more expensive this year. Because of official control it won't be, but other things will.

Already he has been forced to pay more for the gasoline he uses, driving down to the Riviera or up to the Alps. A new tax, adopted about a month ago, brought motor fuel up to roughly $1 a gallon at the rate of 350 francs to the dollar.

Now the government has told him, in effect, that he cannot have more than $80 worth of foreign currency a year for travel abroad.

"I wish I had bought my pesetas last week," was the typical and chagrined comment from a typical worker preparing for a Spanish vacation.

The effect of the new measure will be to oblige more Frenchmen to spend their vacations in France instead of heading for the cheaper resorts in Spain, Italy and Austria. Figures from last year show that the French spent as much outside France on vacations as foreign tourists brought into France.

Other aspects of the new program, including its possible effect on the steady inflation, haven't yet been examined. Problems like this are being shelved until the return to reality in September.

Small shopkeepers have not been affected yet. Like many of their customers, they are on vacation. In the Paris region alone more than half the shops are shut down. In the whole country the only people really working full blast are in the trades which cater to tourists.

Traders on the Bourse, in private conversation, have commented the government for the timing of its currency changes. It picked the Assumption Day week — the one most brokers pick for vacations — to slip its measures into force.

Schools to Open In Spite of 'Flu,' Says U.S. Doctor

WASHINGTON (AP) — A public health service official said the reopening of schools next month might bring on an epidemic of Asiatic flu.

Dr. Carl Dauer said because this is not a certainty, "I don't think we would be justified in not reopening the schools."

Surgeon-General Leroy Burney said earlier Wednesday there is "a definite probability that a large-scale epidemic will occur this fall or winter."

Commissioner Due

Jan R. Jordaan, high commissioner to Canada for the Union of South Africa, will visit Victoria this weekend during a 17-day official inspection tour of western Canada.

BOAT TOO BIG FOR DOORWAY, WALL CUT OPEN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bernard Carver opened a big hole in the wall of his home Wednesday to remove the 21-foot cabin cruiser he'd built in his living room.

Unlike the guy in the funny story you've heard, Carver knew all along that he'd have to do it.

A do-it-yourself enthusiast who also built the ranch-style home, he had been working on the cruiser since last February. It cost him $700, not counting his labor. Boat experts figure it's worth $4,000.

Carver didn't estimate the cost of repairing his living room wall.

Judge Refuses Contempt Case Against Papers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mr. Justice H. W. McInnes of the British Columbia Supreme Court Wednesday dismissed applications to proceed against Vancouver's two daily newspapers for contempt of court.

In a written judgment, Mr. Justice McInnes said:

"It is the business of newspapers to gather and publish information . . . of public interest and that right will not be interfered with unless the higher right of the court to determine the guilt or innocence of the accused is thereby prejudiced or interfered with."

'NO PREJUDICE'
"Both papers had a perfect right to publish what appeared in the articles. There has been no prejudice to the accused as a result."

Applications for attachment or committal were made on behalf of Alphonse Fortin against publishers A. W. Moscarella of The Province and Donald Cromie of The Sun and against the Southam Company Limited, Sun Publishing Company Limited, and Pacific Press Limited.

Lawyer E. L. Whiffen claimed that stories which appeared in the two papers July 15 prejudiced Fortin's trial on a charge of possessing an offensive weapon.

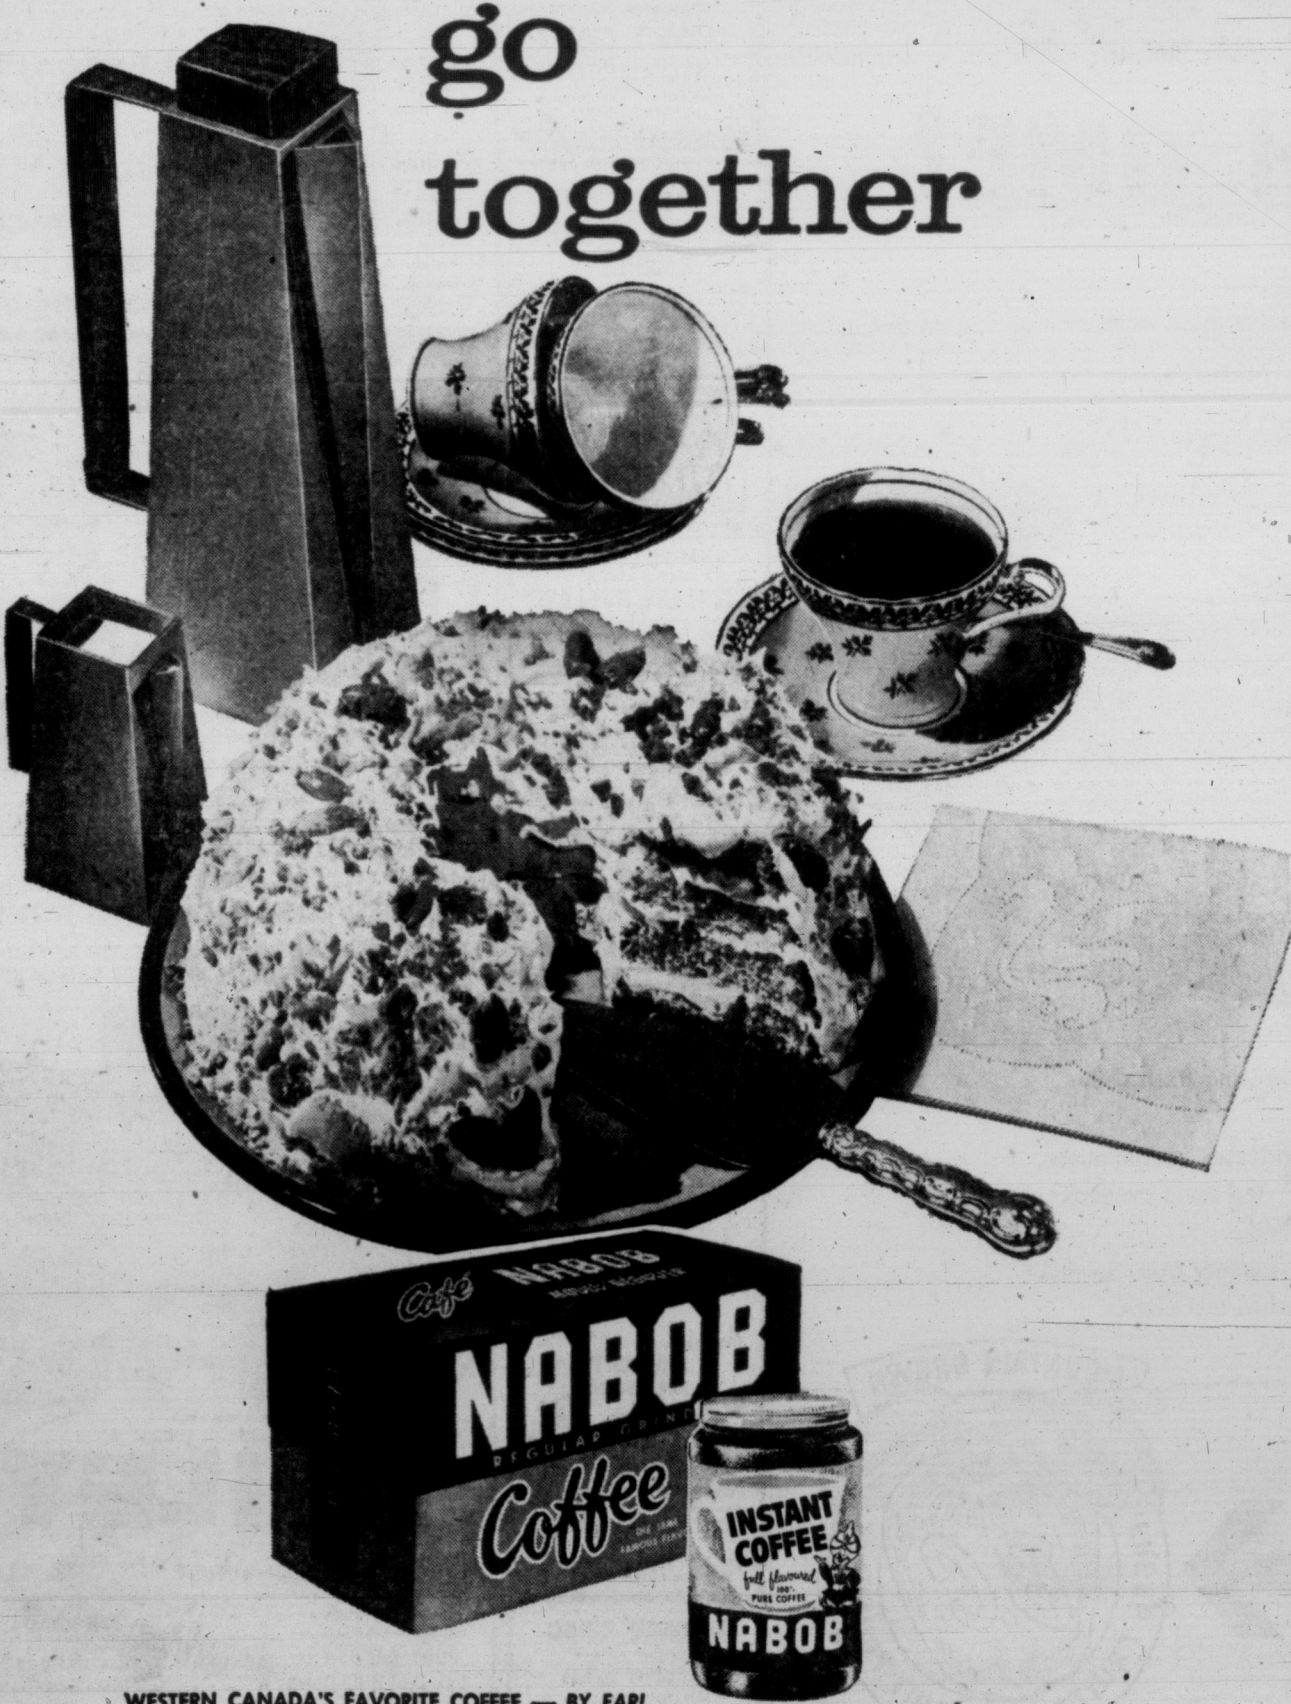

At an earlier hearing Mr. Whiffen contended The Sun and The Province and Edward Steinko, who laid the charge against Fortin, were guilty of contempt and prejudiced Fortin's fair trial.

"Both papers said the gunman was crazed by lack of dope and pills," the lawyer said. "My client denies this absolutely."

CHEF BOY-AR-DEE* SPAGHETTI SAUCES

QUICK of course! But that's not all! These spicy, Italian-style Chef Sauces are wonderful meal-makers! Just reach for a can, heat the sauce . . . and pour over spaghetti, meat-loaf, leftovers, heated-up cold meat! What a richness and flavour they add!

Two kinds to choose from!

Both are made from the plumpest ripest red tomatoes, seasoned with just the right dash of real Italian spices. Spaghetti Sauce with Meat is packed with tender morsels of prime beef. Spaghetti Sauce with Mushrooms is crammed with specially-grown tasty brown mushrooms.

Pick either one when you want to make a so-so meal into a Chef's special. They'll make you famous, too!

Just try all these wonderful Chef Boy-Ar-Dee Foods! Cook-at-home dinners, ready-to-heat meals . . . even a Pizza Pie mix that'll really open your family's eyes (and their mouths, too). Try a new one every few days!

Bing, Phil Find 36 Tyees Going Their Way Up-Island

CAMPBELL RIVER — Bing Crosby and Phil Harris, as they try to do almost every year, have been fishing the last few days in waters around here — with considerable success.

The crooner and orchestra leader arrived aboard the Seattle chartered yacht Polaris after fishing in the Queen Charlotte Islands and at Rivers Inlet. They later left for Qualicum Beach.

Crosby and Harris visited well-known sports fisherman Duncan Marshall here, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLean.

The musical men caught 36 tyees, including a 67½-pounder. The RCAF search and rescue service in Vancouver said a small fishing boat was wrecked and burned out Wednesday near Campbell River. Its only occupant escaped uninjured.

The 30-foot gillnetter Rapiant apparently ran aground at Hole-in-the-Wall, a narrow pass 20 miles northeast of Campbell River, and later caught fire. The lone man aboard was taken off by the Sharon Lee II, owned by John Innes of Stuart Island.

House officials were unable to identify the rescued man or the home port of the vessel.

The 23 employees of Bendickson Logging Co., which has its main operations on Hardwicke Island, are still on strike following breakdown of talks between the IWA and Forest Industrial Relations, representing the company.

The union objects to an attempt to cut the minimum price for fallers and buckers from $160 a thousand feet to $1, with no provision for a sliding scale based on timber quality. Recent wage increases granted loggers are not in dispute.

Bendickson Logging is the only one of 157 coast operators which have not signed an agreement with the IWA.

SERVES NANAIMO AREAS

Last Link Laid In Water System

NANAIMO—Last links in a 12,060-foot water pipeline were laid below the South Forks dam here Wednesday. The $2,000,000 project, when finished, will serve this city and five surrounding districts.

About 24,000 people of Nanaimo, Harewood, Chase River, Extension, Northfield and Departure Bay will benefit.

The two and one-half miles of pipe laid since April 1 cost $168,000.

The pipeline will replace the old city pipeline, constructed of wood in 1931 and later concreted.

The South Forks dam holds back 625,000,000 gallons of water. The new system when complete can provide 16,000,000 gallons a day though present needs are only about 4,500,000.

The construction contracting company G. C. MacLeod of Edmonton, has finished the second and final stage three months ahead of schedule, and "turn on" is expected later in August.

NANAIMO — A new and bright folder advertising Nanaimo has just rolled off the presses and will be placed on every ferry coming into the city.

More than 5,000 copies have been ordered for the initial run. The new folder is an improvement over last year's which was awarded second place in all Canada in a competition of tourist brochures sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

The new folder was produced jointly by the Nanaimo Tourist Bureau and the city.

NANAIMO — Kiwanians here plan to go "all out" this year to boost proceeds from sale of deer hides by establishing at least a dozen dealers where hunters may leave hides from slain deer.

The club made about $400 last year from nearly 300 hides. Proceeds go to club charities.

Hides given the club will be cleaned, salted and prepared for shipment by club members.

Funeral Held For Veteran Sooke Fisherman

SOOKE—Funeral service was held here Wednesday for Ira Dean MacDonald, 44, a fisherman, who had worked on fishing boats on both East and West Canadian coasts since a boy.

At the time of his death he was fishing with his brother off Queen Charlotte Islands.

Among survivors are the widow, Hazel, and daughter, Karen.

Burial was from Knox Presbyterian Church and interment in Hatley Memorial Gardens.

Orchard Going Down Under For Conference

Dr. C. D. Orchard, deputy forests minister, will be one of four British Columbians and seven Canadians attending the British Commonwealth Forestry Conference in Australia and New Zealand August 26 to October 10.

The sessions are to exchange information on forest policies, silviculture, wood product utilization and research, and forest protection from fire and parasite damage.

Meetings will be held in Adelaide, Melbourne, Sydney, Brisbane, Canberra, Auckland, Rotorua and Christchurch.

'Fairyland Look' for City in '58

By TONY DICKSON

Victoria will unfold during the centenary year of 1958 as the most dignified and decorative city in B.C.

This is the avowed aim of executive secretary of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee, who today revealed artistic plans which should transform this capital into a fairyland.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot said all major companies and municipal authorities have expressed willingness to co-operate in the scheme to transform streets and buildings into aesthetic masterpieces by using swathing drapes and thoughtful lighting.

The meticulous art work of the plans, in color, has been done over the past eight months mostly by members of the public works department. The plans are eye-catching pictures in themselves.

There is not the slightest touch of "Coney Island" to be noted. Highlighting everything will be color—the green, yellow and red centenary shades, used in varying balanced proportions depending on the motif.

For instance, the Empress Hotel would have two huge tasseled drapes, in strong green, hanging 4½ floors on the building's noble front, either side of the main entrance. From the Legislative Buildings up Government to Hillside will be "International Way."

Loosely hanging drapes will drop between flowered lamp standards, centred by coats of arms of all the countries that have contributed to B.C.'s rapidly-expanding population.

One of the most spectacular epics planned will be the lighting.

Colored searchlights will play on the Inner Harbor wall of the Causeway, on the Empress, the Legislative Buildings, the CPR docks, the new custom building now under construction, and on the Belmont Building. The Buildings will feature a gigantic "great shield" over the main entrance, depicting, again in color and with letters in two-foot relief, an allegorical assembly of items that have made the province great—a lumber axe and a fish net.

Topping this will be the B.C. coat of arms. Gold drapes will frame the main door. Lamp standards will also have drapes adorning them.

While many details have yet to be resolved, plans to date point out that Victoria will assume an even more beautiful mantle next year over its customary gown of natural loveliness.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been asked to explain the secret of my success in not getting a haircut. So I will try to pass on a few pointers for gentlemen who wish to fail to get a haircut.

Naturally, these remarks are addressed exclusively to married gentlemen. Unmarried gentlemen do not need advice on not getting a haircut.

They can fail to have a haircut to their heart's content, although most of the unmarried gentlemen are forever getting their hair cut in an attempt to become unmarried. But that is another story.

A married gentleman must be quick witted and adept of tongue if he is to stay unshorn.

It is wise to keep a variety of reasons and excuses handy for use when the wife demands to know why the husband has not had his hair cut.

And it is equally wise to make sure the excuses have a change of pace, so that the wife will not become bored with the same old excuses.

When wives become bored, they are apt to thrash out about them with blunt instruments, to the detriment of husbands.

So, to keep your wife agreeable to your theories on not getting a hair cut, try the following excuses, and mix well before using.

REASONS OF HEALTH: You always catch cold after you get a haircut. Matter of fact, you can feel one coming on now. (Sneeze here.)

REASONS OF CLIMATE: (a) It is too cold to get a haircut. You are shivering as it is. (b) It is too hot to get a haircut. You would become sunburned where the hair is removed.

REASONS OF BEING BUSY: You just didn't have time to get a haircut. Note: This will not stand up as an unvarnished statement. It is up to you to find a convincing reason for why you were so busy. Running into good old Joe in the Maple Room won't do.

When you have exhausted the above repertoire, there still remains one more out, which might be called: DIVERSIONARY TACTICS: Save up choice bits of gossip. When your wife gets that haircut look in her eye, ask her if it is true Madie Glitch dyed her hair.

And, as a last resort, if the worst comes to the worst, agree with your wife that you need a haircut.

Say you are going to get one this minute, and by the way, do tell her about the new steno down at the office? Boy! Is she a looker!

This last should be used with caution. It works, but so does the H-Bomb.

APPOINTMENT to the staff of the Flag Officer, Pacific Coast, as information officer is announced today for Lt. Jim Wightman, who comes here from headquarters.

Previously served on this coast in 1949. Lt. Wightman succeeds Lt. Cmdr. Bev Gillespie, who leaves next week for Ottawa.

New Appeal For CD Wardens

Barrie Gault, chief Civil Defence warden, today issued an appeal for more volunteers for the CD warden service.

"We need more volunteers for this very important service," he said. "Anyone interested should contact CD headquarters by phoning 2-7533 and a CD officer will see them."

The call came on the heels of a meeting Wednesday night at CD headquarters that set up committees in preparation for National CD Day activities in Victoria Oct. 4.

Over-all director is Roger Peachey, Greater Victoria target area co-ordinator, assisted by his deputy, Val S. Godfrey.

Chairmen and members of committees are: Co-ordinating committee—R. H. Abbott, chief instructor; publicity—Mr. Gault, assisted by George Stevenson; mapping—F. F. Burrows, chief training officer, assisted by E. C. Powell, J. W. Jones, L. A. Hansard, F. H. Smiley and J. E. Eve.

Radiation and monitoring—G. B. Williams, CD intelligence officer, assisted by Mr. Burrows and R. F. Middleton; headquarters—Harry Kingsley, CD officer, assisted by H. K. Russell, R. Fremantle and L. Harrison.

Liaison—Mr. Godfrey; welfare—F. W. Crouch; security—W. Coldwell; medical—Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy and Mrs. B. R. Grant (ambulance section).

Liaison officers appointed were James Audain from provincial CD headquarters and W. J. Mosedale from HMC Dockyard.

Publicity Commissioner George Warren is leaving for Campbell River today to attend the annual meeting of the Tye Club of British Columbia.

"I am chiefly concerned over reports that motor boats are spoiling the sport fishing at the mouth of the Campbell River," Mr. Warren said.

"We shall discuss ways of combating this menace."

Wind-up program of the summer playground season at Tolmie Park tonight will feature pony rides for the children and a father and son baseball game. Events start at 7.

Permit was issued at City Hall Wednesday for construction of a $24,500 service station at 1906 Oak Bay Ave. Owner is McColi-Frontenac Oil Company Ltd. Contractors are Dillabough and Luney.

WORLD-WIDE CENTENNIAL INVITATIONS

"You are requested to attend British Columbia's 100th Birthday Party."

Hundreds of thousands of persons throughout the world will receive this invitation, in rich coloring and ancient lettering, signed by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The invitation itself is framed by small vignettes of scenes depicting life in B.C., topped by portraits of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria.

Distribution is by the B.C. Centennial Committee.

Leilani Here January 18 For 4 Hours

The St. Leilani will call at Victoria at 8 p.m. on Jan. 18 and leave with passengers for Honolulu at midnight. Elmer J. Martin, president of the Hawaiian Steamship Co. Ltd., San Francisco, announced here today.

She will dock at Honolulu at 10 a.m. on Jan. 24.

Mr. Martin said he had come to Victoria to clear up "misunderstandings" which have arisen concerning the Leilani and Victoria.

A month ago it was announced that Victoria would be included in a special Seattle-Hawaii voyage next January.

A while later the company stated that Victoria would not be included. The Leilani would sail from Seattle to Vancouver and on to Honolulu.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce protested in a letter to the company and received a reply stating that the Leilani would call here after all.

Park Status For Ex-Home Of Haida's

A small island in the Queen Charlottes that once was a Haida Indian village has become a provincial park.

It is Anthony Island, located off the southwest end of Moresby Island, which comprises 345 acres.

The island was visited earlier this summer by provincial anthropologist Wilson Duff, who brought back some prized Haida totem poles.

Anthony Island is one of the few old Haida settlements that was not created an Indian reserve in the early 1900s. It is considered to be one of the best examples in the Queen Charlottes of Haida culture.

Mr. Duff said he had originally asked that Anthony Island be created a park, and urged that more sites of anthropological interest be set aside.

Movies Tonight On Steel Building For Saanich Hall

Representatives of Perma-steel Engineering Ltd., Vancouver, will show movies of possible uses of prefabricated steel buildings to a meeting of Saanich ratepayers at Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall at 8 tonight.

Meeting was called by council as one of a series to explain need for enlarged municipal hall facilities. Members of council will present the case and will answer questions.

Ratepayers vote Saturday on a referendum asking whether electors favor transfer of funds to permit construction of a permanent municipal hall addition.

Outdoor Club Plans Hike

Sixteen members of the Victoria Outdoor Club on the Labor Day weekend will strike out for Della Falls, North America's highest, situated in Strathcona Park near the head of Great Central Lake.

The hike is being organized to familiarize members with a proposed plan to build a 30-mile scenic trail, with shelters, from Della Falls to Butte Lake.

Harem-Scarem Chase Brings Fine of $50

Motorist Muffed Chance to Go Free

Samuel James Crawford, 2352 Vancouver, led police a harem-scarem chase several blocks Wednesday night and was fined $50 for careless driving when he appeared in city court today.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas suspended Crawford's driver's licence for three months.

Traffic officers John Rickerby and James Smith were in a police car directly behind Crawford's car at Government and Fisgard waiting for a green light to proceed north, Con. Rickerby told the court.

After the light changed to green, Cons. Rickerby waited 30 seconds for Crawford to proceed, then blew the police car horn.

TOOK OFF Crawford suddenly came to life and started his car moving increasing speed to about 50 miles an hour and frequently crossing a traffic line in the next four blocks, the officer related.

Approaching Bay Street and a red traffic light, Crawford stopped his car, the police car drew up behind and Cons. Smith jumped out, opened the passenger door of Crawford's car and instructed him to pull over to the curb.

DROVE OFF The light changed and Crawford drove off again, leaving Cons. Smith standing in the middle of the traffic lane, Cons. Rickerby said.

The police car again took off, this time with flashing red light and siren switched on, and overtook Crawford about one and one-half blocks farther north.

When Crawford was asked to get out of his car he put up an argument, the constable said, but finally agreed to park his car on a nearby lot and walk home.

TRYING TO DRIVE The officers drove around the block and came back in time to see Crawford trying to drive his car away.

Patience running thin, the officers arrested Crawford and locked him up overnight.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Crawford said:

"This is my first offence, my first time in court and my last—I hope."

"You have a good right to be in court," the magistrate chided.

Milkmen Meeting On Strike Issue Set for Friday

Friday will bring another milestone to two slow-moving wage disputes in Victoria.

Negotiating committee of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, will hold a meeting to decide what to do with the vote of 165 milkmen favoring a strike against four dairies. The men want wage increases of $30 and $32 a month and continuation of six-days-weekly deliveries.

Twenty-six glaziers of Local 1163, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, begin their fourth week of picketing against three firms. They are striking for increases of 40 cents an hour for journeymen and 20 cents for less skilled workers.

Vic West Fair Six Victoria West old-timers will compare statistics at a Banfield Park fair Saturday. The community organization is seeking the oldest Victoria West resident and the oldest Victoria West person now living in Victoria West, Mrs. Edna Parker, 812 Russell, is accepting other nominations until Friday.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS Oshawa returns Aug. 31. Sussexville, Ste. Therese on UNTD training cruise returning Aug. 30.

Fraser leaves 4 p.m. Friday on exercises, returns Sept. 17. Jonquiere returns Monday.

Man Fined $50 For Ignoring Fire Chief Order

Sidney D. Vantreight, 806 Haliburton, was fined $50 in city police court today on a charge of failing to comply with a fire marshal's order to repair, remove or destroy premises at 1721 Cook.

Charge was laid on complaint of local assistant fire marshal, Fire Chief Frank Briers, who inspected the premises and found them to be "insecure, deteriorated and unsafe."

It was Vantreight's second conviction for the same offence, involving the same premises, a former garage unused for several years.

One-Day Permits Fire chief Frank Briers reminded Victoria residents today back-yard burning permits may only be issued on a one-day basis at present. Ten-day permits will be again issued in the fall. Permits are also required for incinerator burning, as these burners, with built-in up-draft, may carry flaming particles to rooftops.

Stolen Plane Found in U.S.

Saanich Craft Damaged In Ground Loop Crash

A $4,000 private aircraft stolen from a Central Saanich landing strip July 29 or 30 has been located, extensively damaged, at a small field at Washtucna, Wash., 29 miles south of Ritzville.

It had been there since July 30 when it was landed by a man who left the scene saying he would arrange for repairs, but who never returned. Apparently he smashed up the aircraft on landing.

He is believed to be the same man held by Kingman, Arizona, sheriff's office since Aug. 6 on suspicion of plane theft.

Central Saanich police said they received information today the aircraft, found at a private field owned by Bill Snyder at Washtucna, fits the description of the plane owned by Rudy Kwiram, 1032 Oliphant, which disappeared from Butler Bros. private field at Keating.

GROUND LOOPED Snyder told Claude Butler by telephone that the plane apparently ground looped after landing.

He said the left undercarriage was broken, the left wing tip damaged, and the propeller damaged.

Mr. Butler said he believed the plane would have been just about out of fuel when it landed.

Its loss from Keating was not discovered for three days.

A man wearing a leather jacket picked up by a motorist, Mrs. Gladys Edgeland, 5420 Hamsterley, was taken to the landing field the Sunday before the theft is believed to have occurred.

A man fitting the description was also seen hanging around Patricia Bay airport earlier.

The plane is a four-place Stinson painted vermilion and white.

U.S. CITIZEN Police said it appears the suspect held in Arizona—an American citizen—took another plane in Washington, then another in another state before being picked up by the sheriff's office.

Central Saanich police chief F. L. Brownlee said from descriptions given to him and from a photograph of the suspect, "I'm quite sure it's the same man."

Any action by Central Saanich police will have to await anticipated action by the American police, Chief Brownlee said, since they have precedence in the matter.

Investigation was assisted by Federal Bureau of Investigation and the RCMP.

Mr. Kwiram was to leave this afternoon with an engineer and repair equipment. He hoped to be able to repair the plane enough to fly it back here.

NAVAL SHIP MOVEMENTS Oshawa returns Aug. 31. Sussexville, Ste. Therese on UNTD training cruise returning Aug. 30.

Fraser leaves 4 p.m. Friday on exercises, returns Sept. 17. Jonquiere returns Monday.

Man Fined $50 For Ignoring Fire Chief Order

Sidney D. Vantreight, 806 Haliburton, was fined $50 in city police court today on a charge of failing to comply with a fire marshal's order to repair, remove or destroy premises at 1721 Cook.

Charge was laid on complaint of local assistant fire marshal, Fire Chief Frank Briers, who inspected the premises and found them to be "insecure, deteriorated and unsafe."

It was Vantreight's second conviction for the same offence, involving the same premises, a former garage unused for several years.

One-Day Permits Fire chief Frank Briers reminded Victoria residents today back-yard burning permits may only be issued on a one-day basis at present. Ten-day permits will be again issued in the fall. Permits are also required for incinerator burning, as these burners, with built-in up-draft, may carry flaming particles to rooftops.

28 Crashes at Roundabout

Mayor Percy Scurrell today underlined the need for the proposed new Fountain Circle plan with official police figures showing 28 accidents occurred at the troublesome intersection last year.

In a report requested by the mayor this week, police stated cost of vehicle repairs and police supervision for 1956 totalled $5,737.

He said there have been 12 accidents at the circle in the first six months of 1957 and damage to vehicles totals $3,645.

In less than six years at this rate, damage totals would exceed the cost of the proposed $30,000 improvements.

LAST TRY The alderman, who opposes the recent council decision to install a one-way street system to replace the Roundabout, plans a last ditch stand for repeal of the plan.

At noon today, drivers negotiating the circle called suggestions to him—some of them serious—most of them jocular—many of them unrelated to the problem.

Ald. McEwen said he was agreed after watching the traffic that some change is indicated. But he felt the one-way street system would only work if Government and Douglas Streets were one-way arteries for their entire length.

He still favors the Doble plan which would see the intersection completely divided, Gorge and Government becoming one street and Douglas traffic unimpeded except for an inflow from Hillside.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

There have been 19 cases of polio in B.C. to date this year, compared to 46 at the same time last year.

Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial deputy minister of health, said today only three of the 19 cases have been the dread bulbar or paralytic type.

There have been no deaths from polio in the province in 1957. There was one last year.

Two Victoria women, one totally blind, have won awards for their entries in the handicraft division of the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

In a special class for the blind, Mrs. Janet Carr, 2703 Avebury, took second prize with Mrs. G. P. Redden, 1030 St. Charles, won third prize for a hand-woven stole.

George Joe, vice-president of Victoria Chinatown Lions Club, will present a sound film "Trip to the Orient" at a luncheon meeting of Victoria Lions in the Empress Hotel Friday noon.

Warm winter clothing for the needy in Victoria is being sought by the Seventh Day Adventist Dorcas Welfare Society. Welfare centre of the society will be reopened at 983 Pandora Aug. 27 after being closed nearly a month for redecoration.

Those wishing to donate good used clothing may phone 8-3238.

Results of the weekly session of the Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club follow:

North-South—Marjorie Beale and Muriel Ford; Mr. and Mrs. G. Beale; Otto Leestman and Bill Simpson; Larry MacMillan and Bill Chisholm.

East-West—Jack Goldie and Ida Druce; Laura Tingley and Isabel Kelly; Dot Hill and Madge Meacham; Frank Annis and Cam Wallace.

Contingent of 18 CWAC representing six units in 25 Militia Group leave Victoria Friday at 5 p.m. to attend a two-week summer camp at Wainwright, Alta. They will be accompanied by Capt. Doris Chudleigh, CWAC officer of 156 Company, RCASC. Altogether 300 CWAC will attend the camp.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gourds Made Into Pipes
Different Gift for Man

By PENNY SAVER

Most men who smoke pipes like to have a selection to choose from and enjoy getting another one to add to their collection. As a change from the ordinary briar types, your man might like to try an old-fashioned calabash.

These are made from the ends of dried calabash gourds—I saw one in its original state at a tobacco shop. The shop has a collection of calabash pipes at $5.

Just think how distinguished a man would look smoking one of these curly-stemmed beauties!

You might like to pick up some pipes for the children while you're in the shop. No, not to get them started young on tobacco, but for blowing bubbles.

Long-stemmed clay pipes, ideal for use with a bowl of soap suds, are just 25 cents for three. They do break quite easily but they'd provide hours of rainy day fun first.

The same store has a good brand of Scottish pipe tobacco in tins ranging from a two-ounce size at 75 cents up to a one-pounder at $5.50. There also are popular brands of English cigarettes vacuum packed in tins at $1 for 50.

EXTRA LENGTH

You tall girls who have trouble finding skirts that are long enough will be interested in a special rack of "tall girl" skirts in a variety of tailored styles.

Tweeds in different colors are $13.50 and there are plain gabardines at $8.50. I noticed a very pretty teal blue worsted at $9.50.

Cashmere scarves, so wonderfully soft at the neck of a winter coat, have been reduced to half price. They're now $2.48 instead of $4.95.

They come in a whole rainbow of colors.

Spicy pot pourri imported from England will give your stored clothes and linens a lovely scent, and I'm told it's also helpful in keeping moths away!

A tin is priced at $1. If you would like to know where I shopped today, just call me at 2-3131.

South American Display
Features Peruvian Ballet

TORONTO, Ont. — Authentic costumes from the Peruvian Ballet Company, based on ancient Peruvian native cultures, are highlights of the South American display, a special women's division feature for the 1957 Canadian National Exhibition, which opens Aug. 23.

Mrs. Elsa Jenkins, manager of women's division, travelled throughout South America collecting typical costumes and headresses for the display. The ballet costumes are particularly interesting because they represent the efforts to form a truly national company with choreography, story line, music, set and costume designs entirely drawn from the folklore and tradition of Peru.

Kaye Mackinnon, director of the Peruvian Ballet, and her husband, Luis Pacheco de Cespedes, leading Peruvian composer-conductor, are responsible for starting and developing this tremendous work.

Miss Mackinnon was born in Boston and lived in Toronto with her family. She studied ballet first in Boston, then in Paris and other European cities. She danced with the Russian Ballet of Bronislava Nijinska and several French companies until the outbreak of the Second World War, when she and her husband returned to Peru.

While in Lima, during her South American trip, Elsa Jenkins met Miss Mackinnon, who was happy to have the ballet costumes shown as part of the South American display. They will be flown to Toronto via Canadian Pacific Airlines, and will be on display in exhibit hall of the new Queen Elizabeth Building at the Canadian National Exhibition.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PINK PERFECTION PUNCH

Two (4.5 quart) bottles chilled Chablis or other white table wine, two (4.5 quart) bottles chilled carbonated lemon-flavored mix or ginger ale, 1/3 cup grenadine, small whole strawberries, fresh mint sprigs.

Blend wine, carbonated mix and grenadine. Pour into chilled bowl (over ice cubes, if desired). Garnish with whole berries and mint sprigs. Makes about 1 gallon.

"Southern Raisin Bars" should really be included in your future cookie baking plans, especially if your home is one with frequent callers. Whether it's the kids on the block or friends from across town, everyone will love your hospitality when glasses of milk or iced tea are served with a plateful of these raisin-chocolate filled cookies. Plump, moist raisins help keep these bars fresh and good eating—if you can keep them hidden from the family!

EARLY SEPTEMBER MARRIAGE

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lailey, 2773 Thompson Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Joan to Peter Rowland Bridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bridge, 594 Grange Road. The wedding will take place Sept. 7 at 2.30 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Rev. Canon George Biddle officiating. Attending the bride will be Miss Mary McLennan, Vancouver, maid of honor; Mrs. I. W. Earnshaw, Victoria, bridesmatron, and Miss Doreen Farmer, Edmonton, bridesmaid. James S. Bridge will be his brother's best man, and ushers will be Jack Houigan and Bill Lailey, brother of the bride. (Photos by Jus-rite.)

White Flowers Form Background
For 'Sidney Double-Ring Wedding

Tall baskets of white gladioli and stock decorated St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, for the marriage of Mary Kathleen Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kidd, James Island, and Emile Jean Keiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Keiff, Metz, Moselle, France. Rev. William Buckingham officiated, and organ music was played by Howard Vine.

For the double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a princess-style gown of delicate imported rose-point lace over gros de Londres with embroidery of opalescent sequins. The gown featured Sabrina neckline, long-point sleeves and bouffant skirt. A coronet of rosepoint lace touched with seed pearls and sequins held her lace-edged nylon illusion veil, and her bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white feathered carnations with trailing ivy. Her father gave her in marriage.

Miss June Meredith, maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length gown of pale blue over taffeta with matching lace jacket and headband. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas and yellow Esther Reid daisies. Junior bridesmaid Miss Sharon Banks wore a similar gown in pink and carried pink sweet peas and white Esther Reid daisies. Best man was William Mason, and Donald Kidd, brother of the bride, and Cliff Rutledge ushered.

HOTEL RECEPTION

A reception was held at the Sidney Hotel, where Walter Hinchcliffe proposed the bridal toast, Yellow rosebuds and candles flanked the three-tier wedding cake. The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with gardenia corsage.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride donned a grey and white tweed suit with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The couple will live at 1711 Duchess Street.

OPENING GIFTS AT PARTY

A surprise party in connection with a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary is to be held in a few weeks. A point has been raised whether or not it is proper to have the guests of honor open their gifts in the presence of all the guests, or if the presents are held unopened until after the Louise Davis party is over.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

If the party involves a small group of people, it would be simple (and fun too) to open the gifts when all are present. With many people there, the anniversary couple would be doing little else but open packages. Somehow, it would be an anti-climax to have an array of unopened boxes and not have the pleasure of sharing the surprises and joys with the couple. The only thing to do is to think the party through from beginning to end, considering the number of people present. Primarily, this is to be a gay and festive gathering for all, rather than a gift-opening affair for the two honored guests. To help keep it a party and to have it go smoothly, a couple of the ring-leaders could be put to work in assisting with the package opening, such as removing the wrapping and being sure that each enclosure card is secure with the gift after the two have admired it. Generally, friends giving an anniversary chip in ahead of time and decide on one nice item. That makes it simpler than the time-consuming opening of many gifts.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Tiny Model Knows Soap,
Water, Best Beauty Routine

Our happiness, success and appearance depend to such an amazing degree on the habits we form. Our habits of thought, our habits in food, our habits in posture, in exercise and in skin and hair care influence our personalities, our health and our looks more than we possibly can imagine.

These habits should be started early in life so that they are as natural and usual a part of each day as breathing, eating and sleeping. We simply take it for granted that we will indulge in them.

When training begins in childhood it assures an attractive teen-ager and when habits are established that young the adolescent usually will carry through to lovely maturity.

Little Vicky O'Neill started her health and beauty routine at an unusually youthful age. She is two years old and is a professional model, the daughter of Peggy O'Neill, also a professional model.

Of course Vicky had an advantage because her mother tipped her off early in life that soap and water is the best beauty treatment of all. Her mother also made it attractive for the child. Vicky learned that you take a bath not because you HAVE to but because it makes you feel good and look nice. She discovered that soap suds are pretty and feel "Yummy." She wouldn't skip her daily bath for anything.

Mrs. O'Neill's advice to mothers of young daughters is to make cleanliness both easy and enticing. When they are too small to reach the faucets at the basin, provide a little step stool to stand on. There's not much fun in always having a grownup wash your face and hands.

A girl likes to do things for herself. She likes her own towels and wash cloths, the kind with pictures embroidered or printed on them. She likes bubble bath stuff. Above all she likes to play in the tub and enjoy this pleasant part of the day.

Peggy O'Neill feels that her little daughter, Vicky, is establishing habits now that will serve her all the rest of her life. Of course Peggy also knows that her child learns a lot by watching her mother's beauty routine. No professional model can afford to be anything less than meticulously clean and well-groomed.

Vicky has observed that soap and water cleanliness is her mother's beauty formula and that hair should be neatly brushed and combed, that fingernails must be smooth and well cared for, and that clothes must be fresh from the laundry.

If all mothers set an example for their young daughters and then made grooming and beauty care attractive with a few bubbles and personal aids, there would be fewer problems of poor grooming and scalp and skin trouble later on.

In Honor of the Bride

Mrs. Don McColl and Mrs. Ina Catterall were hostesses at the home of the latter, Old Esquimalt Road, at a shower for Miss Maureen Bromley, who will be married this month. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, her mother, and the groom-elect's mother. Gifts were contained in a replica of a law book decorated in UBC colors. Invited were Mrs. W. J. Bromley, Mrs. A. Thackray, Mrs. F. Unwin, Mrs. A. Crawford, Mrs. C. Freer, Mrs. P. Hole, Mrs. C. H. Sedger, Mrs. D. Hodnett, Mrs. P. Bradshaw, Mrs. D. H. Thomas, Mrs. Peaker, Mrs. A. Dods, Mrs. H. R. Mooney, Mrs. G. Sherwood, Mrs. W. Jeanes, Mrs. N. Patterson, Mrs. C. Couch, Misses Sadie Nicholson and Marjorie Mooney.

Miss Pat Hocking was guest of honor at a recent shower given by Mrs. J. Smith and her daughter, Carol, who is to be maid of honor at the wedding. The shower was held at the Carey Road home of Mrs. Smith, and bridesmaids, Misses Joan Hansford and Maureen Jones, assisted. A corsage of pink carnations was presented to the bride-to-be, while her mother, Mrs. William P. Hocking, received peach gladioli. A corsage was also sent to the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. David Donaldson. A decorated container representing a can of pink paint held gifts, and refreshments were served from a buffet table centred with pastel snapdragons and tall pink candles. Invited guests included Mrs. B. Hansford, Mrs. J. Jones, Mrs. F. Kilshaw, Mrs. E. Wong, Mrs. A. Bull, Mrs. C. Putnam, and Misses Irene Fletcher, Terry Duncan, Ann McGee, Berta Heighes, Carole Lawson, Beverley Lidstone, Barbara Pearson and Pat Sanders.

A double surprise shower honoring Misses Kathy Riddle and Mary Jean Levis, both August brides-elect, was held recently at the home of Miss Audrey Beaumont, on Clifford Street. Gifts were placed around the fireplace, decorated with blue and white streamers and wedding bells. A double-ring shower cake was cut by the guests of honor. Guests included Mrs. D. Cox, Mrs. Cyril Nickols, former Miss Sheila Carstens and Misses Carol Gardier, Sandra Noble, Ruth Levis, Marilyn Bassett, Dale Elliott, Ann Snowsell, Gloria Molofy, Sheila Hardie and Nan Whale.

ENTERING PUBLIC LIFE

Eastern Women Turn Backs On Secluded Ways of Past

By DEE LAVOIE

Traditional picture of an eastern woman gliding quietly about in her draped sari, eyes downcast and mouth modestly shut, doesn't hold true in Ceylon any more—at least when the woman is in company of her own sex.

Mrs. Stella Gummow, back at work today as superintendent of Women's Institutes in British Columbia after a round-the-world tour which took her to Colombo, Ceylon, for the Associated Countrywomen of the World meeting, comments: "Singhalese women and other delegates from the east played a large part in the convention and expressed themselves with no hesitation."

"They were wonderful hostesses." "Women in Ceylon are welcomed to public life," Mrs. Gummow added. "In fact, there are many more opportunities offered to them than they are yet ready to take advantage of."

More and more Singhalese

Mrs. Stella Gummow—back at work after trip around world.

women are now receiving a university education. Women's quarters at Colombo's university have recently been enlarged, she said.

"In the villages, training centres for girls have been instituted to help in raising the standard of living."

Mrs. Gummow described a "model home" which had been erected in one of the training centres—it will hardly arouse envy in any Canadian housewife!

MODEL HOME

It was of cement with thatched roof and dirt floor, cooking was done over a charcoal fire and an innovation was cots to sleep on instead of the usual bamboo mats.

In the wealthier city homes which Mrs. Gummow visited, she was surprised to find that luxurious, western-style homes still had quite primitive kitchens.

"Perhaps because the woman of the house seldom goes into her kitchen—she has plenty of servants to do the work," Mrs. Gummow commented.

She was also startled to see women working on the roads, swinging picks and carrying dirt away in pans balanced gracefully on their heads.

VEILS STILL WORN

In the countries of the middle east, which she also visited in the course of her trip, Mrs. Gummow saw women who as yet have made little progress towards western ideas of freedom and equality. "I was told that the veiled Bedouin women, living in tents outside the cities of Jordan, are contented in their secluded lives, and wouldn't want our way of life," Mrs. Gummow said.

In Syria, she noticed women dressed in smart western clothes—but their faces still covered by long black veils. "It's definitely a man's world there," she said. "You see few women on the streets."

SHE KNOWS WHERE SHE'S GOING

Froshmore Uses Fine Taste In Her Decorating Career

Miss Jill Denny... going to University of Washington in the fall.

By ANNE MAYHEW

Victoria airport was befogged, and badly—it was Christmas, and everyone was twiddling thumbs, hoping that soon the plane would take off.

Everyone, that is, except a neatly-dressed, blue-eyed silver-blonde. She was twiddling her pencil and turning out hilarious cartoons of all the frustrated people sitting around her.

The girl was Jill Denny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Denny, Beach Drive.

If you're curious about her sketches, they're hung in a certain office at the airport.

Drawing is only one of Jill's talents. She swims, sails, makes many of her own clothes, creates fantastic centrepieces of driftwood, but most of all, she loves interior decorating.

Next year, Jill will be a "froshmore." "That's a combination of freshman and sophomore," she said. "I took most of the requisite subjects at Victoria College this year—so, at University of Washington in the fall I can concentrate on Art courses."

LOOKING FORWARD

"We'll design and make furniture," she explained "print some of our own materials, study textiles, and take history of art. I guess furniture just runs in the family," Jill smiled.

She's working now in the drapery department of her father's store, and does some display work which is "fascinating."

After her years at university, Jill will come back to Victoria to become a serious decorator, using her good taste and artistic eye for color to help others plan their homes.

"I do like modern homes," Jill said, "but I think everyone should learn to appreciate good design in any home, either traditional or contemporary. Certainly they both have advantages."

Running her finger over the sleek surface of an oiled teak table, she remarked, "I love this."

"My favorite colors are the bronzes, oranges, rusts and blues—pleasing colors," she offered.

"In my home..." Jill began, and stopped.

"Well, anyway," she went on, "interior decorating is one of the few fields in art that is not only interesting but profitable and useful, especially for a girl."

She's looking forward to it!

TOTAL CROP LOSS IN SOME AREAS

Manitoba Farms Devastated By Record Three-Day Rainfall

BOISSEVAIN, Man. (CP)—Three days of record rainfall has flooded this southwestern Manitoba community with 10.51 inches of water and devastated farms in a 680-square-mile surrounding area.

The weather office at Winnipeg said the 10.51 inches that fell on Boissevain between Sunday night and Tuesday morning "exceeds the greatest monthly total of any station in the southeastern Prairies."

District agricultural representative Glen Arnott said that crops in a 25-square-mile area surrounding White Water Lake, five miles west of here, are a complete loss.

He said damage to cereal crops alone will run to $400,000.

In Boissevain itself, a town of 1,100 population, 12 families were evacuated from homes in low-lying areas. The community is 47 miles south of Brandon.

Eight inches of rain fell in the White Water Lake vicinity, but land slopes downward from the Turtle mountains, eight miles south of here, and water flowing to the lake made this the most heavily-damaged area.

Swollen creeks washed out several bridges from Killarney, 20 miles east of here, to Deloraine, 20 miles west. But highways No. 3 and 10, which intersect here, were not blocked. Train service between Killarney and Deloraine was delayed only briefly.

No injuries were reported. There were reports of livestock killed by lightning. Some areas got hail during the three-day deluge.

Agricultural representative Arnott said exact estimates of crop damage will not be possible until the ground dries up.

About 16 per cent of crops had been harvested when the rains hit. Some 125 farms have been affected.

Mr. Arnott said damage to crops in the affected area—40 miles wide and 17 miles deep with Boissevain in the centre—will range from 10 to 100 per cent.

Labor 'March' Planned

MONTREAL (CP)—The Canadian and Catholic Confederation of Labor, parent body of Quebec's national syndicates, announced it will take part in a workers' "march" being organized at Murdochville, Que. The march will actually be a motorcade from Quebec City called by the Quebec Labor Federation to protest against a five-month-old strike at the Gaspé copper mines.

Jones, Jones, Jones

FT. GORDON, Ga. (AP)—To most people the name Jones is a rather commonplace surname. But to one non-commissioned officer here the name spells trouble.

He is the commander of an eight-man squad in company C, 1st training regiment. Each member of the squad is named Jones.

It all started after the men arrived to begin basic training. They were placed in platoons alphabetically as they stepped off the buses.

So, included in the one squad are Ptes. Billy R. Daniel E. Guy R., Henry C. John W., William C., William H. and Willie Jones.

'Motel Row' Sends Overflow To Lodges, Homes

The 30 establishments on "Motel Row" here were filled Tuesday night and some 60 additional families were taken care of in lodges and private homes through arrangements made by the Victoria and Vicinity Motor Courts Association.

Motels on the Island Highway can handle nearly 400 families. It was a rush night for the motel operators, and the association's information booth at the Roundabout operated until 11:45 p.m.

A few of the private home owners didn't even charge their guests. The Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce was instrumental with the association in finding accommodation for the late-arrival tourists.

Association president Michael Harris said the overflow was unique, and added "it was an excellent day."

Queen Speaks to Nation On TV During October Visit

Ottawa Completes Tour Arrangements

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen will make two national television and radio addresses during her Ottawa visit Oct. 12 to 16, it was announced today.

The itinerary of the visit of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was made public today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The Queen will make a television and radio broadcast to the nation at 9 p.m. EDT (6 p.m. PDT) Sunday, Oct. 13. On the following day at 3 p.m. EDT (noon PDT), the Queen will open Parliament and the ceremony will be broadcast by television and radio. The Queen will read the speech from the throne, the traditional outline of the government's proposed legislation.

It will be the first time in Canadian history that a reigning monarch will have opened Parliament.

Prince Philip will also deliver a radio address but the time for this broadcast has not been fixed.

The Queen will arrive at the RCAF Uplands base, on the southern outskirts of Ottawa, at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 12. She will drive to Government House, where she will stay during her visit, and attend a press reception at 6:30 p.m. Government House is the official residence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen's representative in Canada.

On Sunday, Oct. 13, at 10 a.m. Queen Elizabeth will place a wreath at the national war memorial in Confederation Square in the heart of the capital.

She and Prince Philip will attend Christ Church Cathedral. The service will be broadcast by radio only.

The Queen has no public engagements on Sunday after noon.

On Monday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. the Queen will receive the Privy Council at Government House.

The council includes mainly present and past members of the cabinet.

At 10:30 a.m. Prince Philip will receive a diploma as an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Canada at Government House.

At 10:45 a.m. the Queen will receive the heads of the Commonwealth and foreign diplomatic missions and their wives at Government House.

The ceremonial drive to Parliament will start at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m. the Queen will officially open Parliament.

There will be a state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m. the Queen and Prince Philip will leave Government House for a drive through Ottawa and neighboring Hull, Que. During this drive they will attend a brief ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway, a new express highway through Ottawa, and sign the golden book at Hull city hall.

At 12:15 p.m. Prince Philip will receive members of the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference on industrial and scientific research.

At 5:30 p.m. the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier hotel. This will be followed by a dinner at the prime minister's residence.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 10:40 a.m. the Queen will leave Government House for the drive to Uplands. On the way, she will stop at Lansdowne Park where there will be an assembly of school children.

At noon, she will leave by RCAF airliner for the United States.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement: "In view of the very limited time at their disposal on this occasion, the Queen and Prince Philip will not be able to attend the state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m."

EX-MAYOR LOSES EYE AFTER BUSH ACCIDENT

Former Victoria mayor, Claude L. Harrison, was described in satisfactory condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital today following an operation to remove his right eye.

Mr. Harrison was injured last Friday while clearing brush near his Malahat home. A sharp branch pierced his eye.

Canadian Dollar At Record High

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar today rose to a historic high.

Shortly after noon New York bankers quoted the Canadian dollar at 5 21/32 per cent premium in terms of U.S. funds.

Bankers reported the offered rate of 5 43/64 per cent premium.

The previous historic high of the Canadian dollar was 5 1/2 per cent premium, touched 24 years ago—in November, 1933, just before the United States went off the gold standard.

The Canadian dollar closed Wednesday at a premium of 5 1/2 per cent.

The touching of the all-time high climaxed a steady inching upward by the Canadian dollar, spurred by heavy U.S. investment in the Canadian economy.

Such investment involves the changing of U.S. money into Canadian money, and consequent demand for Canadian dollars. This demand forces up the price of Canadian money.

U.S. tourists here today will be irritated by the money exchange rate, just 1/32 more than on Wednesday.

This is because the Canadian dollar is 5 21/32 per cent higher than their money—the highest it's been since 1933, when our money was 5 5/8 per cent more than the U.S. counterpart.

So far, in most businesses, discount on U.S. money is made only on 50-cent pieces and above.

But the situation has arisen where a resident here receives change in U.S. silver; tries to spend it, and has the money discounted.

S. W. Dobbyn, 3287 Glasgow, said he had received U.S. money in change from the Johnson Street liquor store, and later three groceries refused to accept it at par.

Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan has said he will investigate the situation.

Dairies here charge the heaviest discount rate: two cents on 25 cents U.S., four cents on 50 cents; six cents on 75 cents, and five cents on the dollar.

The odd ratio was explained as banks charge for handling quantities of silver and, as one dairy spokesman said, "we get so much of it from corner groceries and elsewhere we have to do something."

At the same time, K. B. Strid, chairman of the board of the Wenner-Gren Foundation, said that $6,000,000 has been allocated for initial surveys. This is $1,000,000 more than was originally planned.

Mr. Strid, here from Stockholm, leaves today on an aerial survey of the property. Also on the flight will be Bernard Gore, managing director, Einar M. Gunderson and William Murphy, directors.

Mr. Strid said the additional expenditure will speed development of the area.

Russ Plane Crashes In Denmark; 23 Dead

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—A Soviet airliner from Moscow clipped a mist-shrouded power plant, smokelstack today while coming in for a landing and plunged into Copenhagen harbor, killing all 23 persons aboard.

The dead included five Russian crew members and 18 passengers, including 11 Russians. Authorities said the others were two Britons believed returning from the Moscow Youth Festival, three Germans, one Dane and a person not yet identified.

The plane, a twin-engine Ilyushin-14 of the Russian Aeroflot Line, was on regular service between Moscow and Copenhagen via Riga, the former Latvian capital on the Baltic coast. It landed at Riga and took off for Copenhagen's Kastrup airport.

The plane was in normal contact with the airport until a few minutes before the crash. All orders from the control tower were given in English which was translated on the spot into Russian by an interpreter and broadcast to the plane.

It contacted the control tower and reported it was flying east of Bornholm Island "and all is well." It dived in 3,500 feet and the pilot began searching for an opening through the overcast sky.

The Soviet pilot, flying on instruments, requested final landing instructions. That was the last heard from the plane.

Efforts to recover the other two bodies were halted when a second cave-in threatened diggers in the excavation project.

Police Chief Alvan Watson said the pit would have to be shored with wooden beams to prevent a further collapse.

The victims, all Dutch-Canadians, were buried Wednesday night when the wall of a 35-foot deep pit of a water plant cofferdam collapsed.

Concrete had been poured into the pit before the collapse and police feared the two bodies were imbedded in it.

At 41, Berke, vice-president of Schlapparelli's, is one of the youngest executives in the rapidly expanding cosmetics industry.

"Men now buy about 60 per cent of the perfume sold in this country," observed Berke.

"Most of it, of course, is for women. But speaking frankly, we are headed toward a time when most men will use perfume themselves — although naturally it will be specially formulated for them."

Berke sees no reason why this prediction should be startling. "South American men have always worn perfume," he said, "and in Europe it was worn by more men than women, until the French Revolution came along."

Berke's firm is one of several that have already come out with special new perfumes for men. His brand is marketed in a bottle shaped like a pipe—to lend it a masculine air—and, according to him, has "a fresh outdoor spicy scent."

Will Meet Privy Council Members

On Monday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. the Queen will receive the Privy Council at Government House.

The council includes mainly present and past members of the cabinet.

At 10:30 a.m. Prince Philip will receive a diploma as an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Canada at Government House.

At 10:45 a.m. the Queen will receive the heads of the Commonwealth and foreign diplomatic missions and their wives at Government House.

The ceremonial drive to Parliament will start at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m. the Queen will officially open Parliament.

There will be a state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m. the Queen and Prince Philip will leave Government House for a drive through Ottawa and neighboring Hull, Que. During this drive they will attend a brief ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway, a new express highway through Ottawa, and sign the golden book at Hull city hall.

At 12:15 p.m. Prince Philip will receive members of the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference on industrial and scientific research.

At 5:30 p.m. the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier hotel. This will be followed by a dinner at the prime minister's residence.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 10:40 a.m. the Queen will leave Government House for the drive to Uplands. On the way, she will stop at Lansdowne Park where there will be an assembly of school children.

At noon, she will leave by RCAF airliner for the United States.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement: "In view of the very limited time at their disposal on this occasion, the Queen and Prince Philip will not be able to attend the state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m."

U.S. PLEDGE:

No More Leakage Of Security Data

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States government has assured Canada it will carefully guard security information on Canadians supplied to it by Canada.

The external affairs department today made public the text of a note from the U.S. state department to Norman Robertson, Canadian ambassador in Washington. The note was delivered Tuesday.

GIVES ASSURANCE

It said at one point: "The procedures which have been followed by the security agencies of my government in the past and which they will continue to follow in the future, including the handling of information received from Canadian sources, are consistent with the assurances you seek."

Last April 10, the then Liberal government in Ottawa threatened to cut off the flow of security information on Canadians to the U.S. unless the American government gave assurances that the information wouldn't fall into the hands of any committees over which the U.S. administration has no executive control.

The Canadian threat arose after an RCMP report on the late Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, was leaked in Washington to the U.S. Senate internal security sub-committee.

The sub-committee used the report to brand Mr. Norman a Communist. The report, saying that Mr. Norman was a Communist party member in 1940, was sent to the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation in 1950. The RCMP six weeks later told the FBI that its original report was false.

On April 4 this year in Cairo, Mr. Norman committed suicide after the sub-committee had revived 1951 allegations that he had Communist connections.

The U.S. note said: "These U.S. security agencies operate under a directive which provides that any agency receiving information from another may not transmit such information outside its own organization without the consent of the originating agency."

"Further it is my understanding that, in addition to the above directive governing dissemination of information by executive agencies of my government, the security agencies of Canada and the U.S. which exchange information abide by the restrictions imposed by the sender upon the receiver as they relate to further dissemination."

There was no explanation why it took the U.S. state department more than four months to reply to the Canadian note of April 10.

The U.S. note concluded: "As has been the practice in the past, the two governments will continue to consult concerning mutually satisfactory arrangements covering the exchange of information between them."

A quiet farmer's field contrasted the torn and scarred marshland last night as six wooden boxes containing the unidentifiable remains of some of the 79 victims were lowered into the ground.

The informal ceremony, witnessed by a silent group of airline officials, investigators, police and villagers, was conducted for sanitary reasons.

Dr. Jean-Paul Pouliot, coroner of Lotbiniere County, said it was "impossible to say how many persons were buried last night, but it would probably be about one-third of all the victims."

The 30-foot square plot on the edge of a marshy wood about a mile from the wreckage was purchased last night from Albert Martel by Maritime Central Airways. "It is an honor to be able to provide a resting place for the victims of the tragedy," said the farmer on whose land the big plane, bound for Toronto with a load of war veterans and their families, crashed.

Meanwhile at Ottawa Transport Minister Hees said a public inquiry will be held as soon as possible into the crash.

Mr. Hees said the inquiry will open as soon as the plane wreckage has been recovered from the bog southwest of Quebec and examined by experts.

Arms Talks Hit by New Red Block

LONDON (UP)—Russia declared today there can be no first step disarmament agreement without some withdrawal of foreign forces from Germany and a start toward eliminating overseas military bases elsewhere.

Soviet deputy foreign minister Valerian Zorin put his blunt condition before the five-power disarmament conference in a long speech that dimmed hopes of any agreement.

"The Soviet delegation," he said, "is of the opinion that no agreement on disarmament, whether it is a question of a broad agreement or one of partial measures in this sphere, if we are talking seriously about such an agreement, can dispense with corresponding decisions regarding the elimination of foreign bases on the territories of other countries."

But the situation has arisen where a resident here receives change in U.S. silver; tries to spend it, and has the money discounted.

S. W. Dobbyn, 3287 Glasgow, said he had received U.S. money in change from the Johnson Street liquor store, and later three groceries refused to accept it at par.

Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McGugan has said he will investigate the situation.

Dairies here charge the heaviest discount rate: two cents on 25 cents U.S., four cents on 50 cents; six cents on 75 cents, and five cents on the dollar.

The odd ratio was explained as banks charge for handling quantities of silver and, as one dairy spokesman said, "we get so much of it from corner groceries and elsewhere we have to do something."

At the same time, K. B. Strid, chairman of the board of the Wenner-Gren Foundation, said that $6,000,000 has been allocated for initial surveys. This is $1,000,000 more than was originally planned.

Mr. Strid, here from Stockholm, leaves today on an aerial survey of the property. Also on the flight will be Bernard Gore, managing director, Einar M. Gunderson and William Murphy, directors.

Jets Shatter Home Village Of Top Rebel

MANAMA, Bahrain (Reuters)—British Venom jet fighters today blasted the fort and towers at Sal, home village of the Imam of Oman, Arab rebel leader. Made at the request of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman, the attack demolished the fortifications completely — largely for psychological effect — according to an official spokesman.

Plans are nearly complete for the withdrawal of British troops who supported the Sultan's campaign to crush the rebellion, and the troops should start to leave within a few days.

In Cairo, the Imam of Oman's representative said "Omanis are still fighting and occupying a very important strategic city." He did not name the city.

'Fairyland Look' for City in '58

By TONY DICKASON

Victoria will unfold during the centenary year of 1958 as the most dignified and decorative city in B.C.

This is the avowed aim of executive secretary of the Greater Victoria Centennial Committee, who today revealed artistic plans which should transform this capital into a fairyland.

Capt. D. J. Proudfoot said all major companies and municipal authorities have expressed willingness to co-operate in the scheme to transform streets and buildings into aesthetic masterpieces by use of swathing drapes and thoughtful lighting.

The meticulous art work of the plans, in color, has been done over the past eight months mostly by members of the public works department. The plans are eye-catching pictures in themselves.

There is not the slightest touch of "Coney Island" to be noted.

Highlighting everything will be color—the green, yellow and red centenary shades, used in varying balanced proportions depending on the motif.

For instance, the Empress Hotel would have two huge tasseled drapes, in strong green, hanging 4½ floors on the building's noble front, either side of the main entrance. From the Legislative Buildings up Government to Hillside will be "International Way."

Loosely hanging drapes will drop between flowered lamp standards, centred by coats of arms of all the countries that have contributed to B.C.'s rapidly-expanding population.

One of the most spectacular spectacles planned will be the lighting.

Colored searchlights will play on the Inner Harbor wall of the Causeway, on the Empress, the Legislative Buildings, the CPR docks, the new custom building now under construction, and on the Belmont Building.

The Buildings will feature a gigantic "great shield" over the main entrance, depicting, again in color and with letters in two-foot relief, an allegorical assembly of items that have made the province great—a lumber axe and a fish net.

Topping this will be the B.C. coat of arms. Gold drapes will frame the main door. Lamp standards will also have drapes adorning them.

While many details have yet to be resolved, plans to date point out that Victoria will assume an even more beautiful mantle next year over its customary gown of natural loveliness.

Harem-Scarem Chase Brings Fine of $50

Motorist Muffed Chance to Go Free

Samuel James Crawford, 2352 Vancouver, led police a harem-scarem chase several blocks Wednesday night and was fined $50 for careless driving when he appeared in city court today.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas suspended Crawford's driver's licence for three months. Traffic officers John Rickerby and James Smith were in a police car directly behind Crawford's car at Government and Esplanade waiting for a green light to proceed north. Con. Rickerby told the court.

After the light changed to green, Con. Rickerby waited 30 seconds for Crawford to proceed, then blew the police car horn.

TOOK OFF
Crawford suddenly came to life and started his car moving. Increasing speed to about 50 miles an hour and frequently crossing a traffic line in the next four blocks, the officer related.

Approaching Bay Street and a red traffic light, Crawford stopped his car, the police car drew up behind and Con. Smith jumped out, opened the passenger door of Crawford's car and instructed him to pull over to the curb.

DROVE OFF
The light changed and Crawford drove off again, leaving Con. Smith standing in the middle of the traffic lane, Con. Rickerby said.

The police car again took off, this time with flashing red light and siren switched on, and overtook Crawford about one and one-half blocks farther north.

When Crawford was asked to get out of his car he put up an argument, the constable said, but finally agreed to park his car on a nearby lot and walk home.

TRYING TO DRIVE
The officers drove around the block and came back in time to see Crawford trying to drive his car away.

Patience running thin, the officers arrested Crawford and locked him up overnight.

Asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, Crawford said:

"This is my first offence, my first time in court and my last—I hope."

Stolen Plane Found in U.S.

Saanich Craft Damaged In Ground Loop Crash

A $4,000 private aircraft stolen from a Central Saanich landing strip July 29 or 30 has been located, extensively damaged, at a small field at Washtucna, Wash., 29 miles south of Ritzville.

It had been there since July 30 when it was landed by a man who left the scene saying he would arrange for repairs, but who never returned. Apparently he smashed up the aircraft on landing.

He is believed to be the same man held by Kingman, Arizona, sheriff's office since Aug. 6 on suspicion of plane theft.

GROUND LOOPED
Snyder told Claude Butler by telephone that the plane apparently ground looped after landing.

He said the left undercarriage was broken, the left wing tip damaged, and the propeller damaged.

Mr. Butler said he believed the plane would have been just about out of fuel when it landed.

The plane is a four-place Stinson painted vermilion and white.

Its loss from Keating was not discovered for three days.

A man wearing a leather jacket picked up by a motorist, Mrs. Gladys Edgeland, 5420 Hamsterley, was taken to the landing field the Sunday before the theft is believed to have occurred.

A man fitting the description was also seen hanging around Patricia Bay airport earlier.

U.S. CITIZEN
Police said it appears the suspect held in Arizona—an American citizen—took another plane in Washington, then another in another state before being picked up by the sheriff's office.

Central Saanich police chief F. L. Brownlee said from descriptions given to him and from a photograph of the suspect, "I'm quite sure it's the same man."

Any action by Central Saanich police will have to await anticipated action by the American police, Chief Brownlee said, since they have precedence in the matter.

Investigation was assisted by Federal Bureau of Investigation and the RCMP.

Mr. Kwiram was to leave this afternoon with an engineer and repair equipment. He hoped to be able to repair the plane enough to fly it back here.

Closed-Circuit Television For Comox Area

1,000-Home Hookup Aim of Businessmen

Closed-circuit television will be available for residents of the Comox-Courtenay area within the next six weeks, it was learned today.

Comox-Courtenay TV Ltd., incorporated early this month, has won approval from civic officials and expects a department of transport licence momentarily.

Arrangements now are being made with B.C. Telephone Co. for distribution.

Serving an area with a population of about 4,500, the company hopes to get into 1,000 homes. Hook-up charge will be $125. Monthly service charge has not yet been fixed.

With a large antenna, the firm expects to be able to pipe in four channels to viewers—2, 4, 5 and 12. At present only 12 is consistently clear in the area. Channels 4 and 5 can be received at times.

A group of local businessmen is behind the venture. A directors' meeting will be held within the next few days to name officers and work out final details.

Asiatic 'Flu Vaccine Here Oct. 1

British Columbia will get a proportionate share of Asiatic flu vaccine this fall, deputy health minister Dr. G. F. Amyot said today.

Produced by the Connaught Laboratories in Toronto, the vaccine will be made available to provinces by Oct. 1 on a population basis. Cost will be split by the federal and provincial governments.

Dr. Amyot said there would just be enough vaccine to inoculate specified groups, and not the general population. First consideration will be given to hospital and health service and other essential workers.

It is not known yet whether there will be enough for distribution through private doctors.

Man Fined $50 For Ignoring Fire Chief Order

Sidney D. Vantreigh, 806 Haliburton, was fined $50 in city police court today on a charge of failing to comply with a fire marshal's order to repair, remove or destroy premises at 1721 Cook.

Charge was laid on complaint of local assistant fire marshal, Fire Chief Frank Briers, who inspected the premises and found them to be "insecure, deteriorated and unsafe."

It was Vantreigh's second conviction for the same offence, involving the same premises, a former garage unused for several years.

One-Day Permits

Fire Chief Frank Briers reminded Victoria residents today back-yard burning permits may only be issued on a one-day basis at present. Ten-day permits will be again issued in the fall. Permits are also required for incinerator burning, as these burners, with built-in up-draft, may carry flaming particles to rooftops.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Why are some nonsense verses called limericks?—H.P.
A.—The limerick verse, it is said, originated at Irish parties when each guest would make up a line of verse in this metre. Limerick is the chief port on Ireland's west coast. A typical limerick, by Kipling, goes: "There was a small boy of Quebec/Who was buried in snow to his neck/When they said 'Are you friz?' He replied, 'Yes I is'—But we don't call this cold in Quebec."

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have been asked to explain the secret of my success in not getting a haircut. So I will try to pass on a few pointers for gentlemen who wish to fail to get a haircut.

Naturally, these remarks are addressed exclusively to married gentlemen.

Unmarried gentlemen do not need advice on not getting a haircut.

They can fail to have a haircut to their heart's content, although most of the unmarried gentlemen are forever getting their hair cut in an attempt to become not unmarried.

But that is another story.

A married gentleman must be quick witted and adept of tongue if he is to stay unshorn.

It is wise to keep a variety of reasons and excuses handy for use when the wife demands to know why the husband has not had his hair cut.

And it is equally wise to make sure the excuses have a change of pace, so that the wife will not become bored with the same old excuses.

When wives become bored, they are apt to thrash out about them with blunt instruments, to the detriment of husbands.

So, to keep your wife agreeable to your theories on not getting a haircut, try the following excuses, and mix well before using.

REASONS OF HEALTH: You always catch cold after you get a haircut. Matter of fact, you can feel one coming on now. (Sneeze here.)

REASONS OF CLIMATE: (a) It is too cold to get a haircut. You are shivering as it is. (b) It is too hot to get a haircut. You would become sunburned where the hair is removed.

REASONS OF BEING BUSY: You just didn't have time to get a haircut. Note: This will not stand up as an unvarnished statement. It is up to you to find a convincing reason for why you were so busy. Running into good old Joe in the Maple Room won't do.

When you have exhausted the above repertoire, there still remains one more out, which might be called:

DIVERSIONARY TACTICS: Save up choice bits of gossip. When your wife gets that haircut look in her eye, ask her if it is true Maizie Gluch dyed her hair.

And, as a last resort, if the worst comes to the worst, agree with your wife that you need a haircut.

Say you are going to get one this minute, and by the way, did you tell her about the new steno down at the office? Boy! Is she a looker!

WORLD-WIDE CENTENNIAL INVITATIONS

"You are requested to attend British Columbia's 100th Birthday Party."

Hundreds of thousands of persons throughout the world will receive this invitation, in rich coloring and ancient lettering, signed by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

The invitation itself is framed by small vignettes of scenes depicting life in B.C., topped by portraits of Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria.

Leilani Here January 18 For 4 Hours

The Ss. Leilani will call at Victoria at 8 p.m. on Jan. 18 and leave with passengers for Honolulu at midnight. Elmer J. Martin, president of the Hawaiian Steamship Co. Ltd., San Francisco, announced here today.

She will dock at Honolulu at 10 a.m. on Jan. 24.

Mr. Martin said he had come to Victoria to clear up "misunderstandings" which have arisen concerning the Leilani and Victoria.

A month ago it was announced that Victoria would be included in a special Seattle-Hawaii voyage next January.

A while later the company stated that Victoria would not be included. The Leilani would sail from Seattle to Vancouver and on to Honolulu.

Victoria Chamber of Commerce protested in a letter to the company and received a reply stating that the Leilani would call here after all.

New Appeal For CD Wardens

Barrie Gault, chief Civil Defence warden, today issued an appeal for more volunteers for the CD warden service.

"We need more volunteers for this very important service," he said. "Anyone interested should contact CD headquarters by phoning 27533 and a CD officer will see them."

The call came on the heels of a meeting Wednesday night at CD headquarters that set up committees in preparation for National CD Day activities in Victoria Oct. 4.

Over-all director is Roger Peachey, Greater Victoria target area co-ordinator, assisted by his deputy, Val S. Godfrey.

Co-ordinating committee—R. H. Abbott, chief instructor; publicity—Mr. Gault assisted by George Stevenson; mapping—F. F. Burrows, chief training officer, assisted by E. C. Powell, J. W. Jones, L. A. Hansard, F. H. Smiley and J. E. Eve.

Radiation and monitoring—G. B. Williams, CD intelligence officer, assisted by Mr. Burrows and R. F. Middleton; head-quarters—Harry Kinsley, CD officer, assisted by H. K. Russell, R. Fremantle and L. Harrison.

Liaison—Mr. Godfrey; welfare—F. W. Crouch; security—W. Coldwell; medical—Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy and Mrs. B. R. Grant (ambulance section).

Liaison—officers appointed were James Audain from provincial CD headquarters and W. J. Mosedale from HMC Dockyard.

Publicity Commissioner George Warren is leaving for Campbell River today to attend the annual meeting of the Tyee Club of British Columbia.

"I am chiefly concerned over reports that motor boats are spoiling the sport fishing at the mouth of the Campbell River," Mr. Warren said.

"We shall discuss ways of combatting this menace."

Wind-up program of the summer playground season at Tolmie Park tonight will feature pony rides for the children and a father and son baseball game. Events start at 7.

Permit was issued at City Hall Wednesday for construction of a $24,500 service station at 1996 Oak Bay Ave. Owner is McColl-Frontenac Oil Company Ltd. Contractors are Dillabough and Luney.

Saanich Social Credit Constituency Association has backed MLA John Tisdalle in his fight for a better deal for agriculture from the government.

At a recent meeting, the association unanimously endorsed remarks made by Mr. Tisdalle demanding that a producer representative be appointed to the B.C. Milk Board.

The members also approved Mr. Tisdalle's recommendation that Premier Bennett relinquish the agriculture portfolio and appoint a full-time minister.

Park Status For Ex-Home Of Haidas

A small island in the Queen Charlottes that once was a Haida Indian village has become a provincial park.

It is Anthony Island, located off the southwest end of Moresby Island, which comprises 345 acres.

The island was visited earlier this summer by provincial anthropologist Wilson Duff, who brought back some prized Haida totem poles.

Anthony Island is one of the few old Haida settlements that was not created an Indian reserve in the early 1900s. It is considered to be one of the best examples in the Queen Charlottes of Haida culture.

Mr. Duff said he had originally asked that Anthony Island be created a park, and urged that more sites of anthropological interest be set aside.

Movies Tonight On Steel Building For Saanich Hall

Representatives of Perma-steel Engineering Ltd., Vancouver, will show movies of possible uses of prefabricated steel buildings to a meeting of Saanich ratepayers at Royal Oak Women's Institute Hall at 8 tonight.

Meeting was called by council as one of a series to explain need for enlarged municipal hall facilities. Members of council will present the case and will answer questions.

Ratepayers vote Saturday on a referendum asking whether electors favor transfer of funds to permit construction of a permanent municipal hall addition.

Outdoor Club Plans Hike

Sixteen members of the Victoria Outdoor Club on the Labor Day weekend will strike out for Della Falls, North America's highest, situated in Strathcona Park near the head of Great Central Lake.

The hike is being organized to familiarize members with a proposed plan to build a 30-mile scenic trail, with shelters, from Della Falls to Butte Lake.

Milkmen Meeting On Strike Issue Set for Friday

Friday will bring another milestone to two slow-moving wage disputes in Victoria.

Negotiating committee of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union, will hold a meeting to decide what to do with the vote of 165 milkmen favoring a strike against four dairies. The men want wage increases of $30 and $32 a month and continuation of six-days-a-week deliveries.

Twenty-six glaziers of Local 1163, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, begin their fourth week of picketing against three firms. They are striking for increases of 40 cents an hour for journeymen and 20 cents for less skilled workers.

28 Crashes at Roundabout

Mayor Percy Scourrah today underlined the need for the proposed new Fountain Circle plan with official police figures showing 28 accidents occurred at the troublesome intersection last year.

In a report requested by the mayor this week, police stated cost of vehicle repairs and police supervision for 1956 totalled $5,573.

He said there have been 12 accidents at the circle in the first six months of 1957 and damage to vehicles totals $3,645.

In less than six years at this rate, damage totals would exceed the cost of the proposed $30,000 improvements.

LAST TRY
The alderman, who opposes the recent council decision to install a one-way street system to replace the Roundabout, plans a last ditch stand for repeal of the plan.

At noon today, drivers negotiating the circle called suggestions to him—some of them serious—most of them jocular—many of them unrelated to the problem.

Ald. E. D. McEwen, meanwhile, carried out his own Roundabout research from a deck chair in the middle of the intersection.

Mayor Thanks Blood Donors; 2-Day Record

Mayor Percy Scourrah today expressed thanks to Victoria residents for strong support of the two-day Red Cross emergency blood clinic.

Officials said the "Mayor's Drive" set a record as the best two-day clinic so far. On Wednesday, 416 donors appeared at the clinic, boosting the two-day total to 841.

A four-day clinic in 1952 included the best one-day effort when 486 donors appeared.

"I am very pleased. The public has shown itself ready to meet any emergency. If the people know there is a need they respond," said the mayor.

Chairman of the Victoria Red Cross branch, Dr. Olga Jardine, thanked the mayor for sparking the campaign.

"The mayor's enthusiasm and drive made it a success. He awakened this excellent response."

The clinic was aided by a turnout Wednesday of 22 young women of the RCAF reserve force. Donors came in a steady stream until clinic closing time.

Another mobile clinic is collecting blood in Vancouver today.

Mayor Scourrah has challenged that city and New Westminster to try to better Victoria's donation which works out at 15.41 pints of blood per 1,000.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Gourds Made Into Pipes
Different Gift for Man

By PENNY SAVER

Most men who smoke pipes like to have a selection to choose from and enjoy getting another one to add to their collection. As a change from the ordinary briar types, your man might like to try an old-fashioned calabash.

These are made from the ends of dried calabash gourds—I saw one in its original state at a tobacco shop. The shop has a collection of calabash pipes at $5.

Just think how distinguished a man would look smoking one of these curly-stemmed beauties!

You might like to pick up some pipes for the children while you're in the shop. No, not to get them started young on tobacco, but for blowing bubbles.

Long-stemmed clay pipes, ideal for use with a bowl of soap suds, are just 25 cents for three. They do break quite easily but they'd provide hours of rainy day fun first.

The same store has a good brand of Scottish pipe tobacco in tins ranging from a two-ounce size at 75 cents up to a one-pounder at $5.50. There also are popular brands of English cigarettes vacuum packed in tins at $1 for 50.

EXTRA LENGTH

You tall girls who have trouble finding skirts that are long enough will be interested in a special rack of "tall girl"

skirts in a variety of tailored styles.

Tweeds in different colors are $13.50 and there are plain gabardines at $8.50. I noticed a very pretty teal blue worsted at $9.50.

Cashmere scarves, so wonderfully soft at the neck of a winter coat, have been reduced to half price. They're now $2.48 instead of $4.95.

They come in a whole rainbow of colors.

Spicy pot pourri imported from England will give your stored clothes and linens a lovely scent, and I'm told it's also helpful in keeping moths away!

A tin is priced at $1. If you would like to know where I shopped today, just call me at 2-3131.

South American Display
Features Peruvian Ballet

TORONTO, Ont. — Authentic costumes from the Peruvian Ballet Company, based on ancient Peruvian native cultures, are highlights of the South American display, a special women's division feature for the 1957 Canadian National Exhibition, which opens Aug. 23.

Mrs. Elsa Jenkins, manager of women's division, travelled throughout South America collecting typical costumes and headresses for the display. The ballet costumes are particularly interesting because they represent the efforts to form a truly national company with choreography, story line, music, set and costume designs entirely drawn from the folklore and tradition of Peru.

Kaye Mackinnon, director of the Peruvian Ballet, and her husband, Luis Pacheco de Cespedes, leading Peruvian composer-conductor, are responsible for starting and developing this tremendous work.

Miss Mackinnon was born in Boston and lived in Toronto with her family. She studied ballet first in Boston, then in Paris and other European cities. She danced with the Russian Ballet of Bronislava Nijinska and several French companies until the outbreak of the Second World War, when she and her husband returned to Peru.

While in Lima, during her South American trip, Elsa Jenkins met Miss Mackinnon, who was happy to have the ballet costumes shown as part of the South American display. They will be flown to Toronto via Canadian Pacific Airlines, and will be on display in exhibit hall of the new Queen Elizabeth Building at the Canadian National Exhibition.

TODAY'S RECIPE*

PINK PERFECTION PUNCH

Two (4.5 quart) bottles chilled Chablis or other white table wine, two (4.5 quart) bottles chilled carbonated lemon-flavored mix or ginger ale, 1/3 cup grenadine, small whole strawberries, fresh mint sprigs.

Blend wine, carbonated mix and grenadine. Pour into chilled bowl (over ice cubes, if desired). Garnish with whole berries and mint sprigs. Makes about 1 gallon.

"Southern Raisin Bars" should really be included in your future cookie baking plans, especially if your home is one with frequent callers. Whether it's the kids on the block or friends from across town, everyone will love your hospitality when glasses of milk or iced tea are served with a plateful of these raisin-chocolate filled cookies. Plump, moist raisins help keep them fresh and good eating—if you can keep them hidden from the family!

EARLY SEPTEMBER MARRIAGE

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lailey, 2773 Thompson Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter Joan to Peter Rowland Bridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Bridge, 594 Grange Road. The wedding will take place Sept. 7 at 2:30 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church, Rev. Canon George Biddle officiating. Attending the bride will be Miss Mary McLennan, Vancouver, maid of honor; Mrs. I. W. Earnshaw, Victoria, bridesmaid, and Miss Doreen Farmer, Edmonton, bridesmaid. James S. Bridge will be his brother's best man, and ushers will be Jack Hourigan and Bill Lailey, brother of the bride. (Photos by Jus-rite.)

White Flowers Form Background
For Sidney Double-Ring Wedding

Tall baskets of white gladioli and stock decorated St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, for the marriage of Mary Kathleen Kidd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kidd, James Island, and Emile Jean Keiff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philippe Keiff, Metz, Moselle, France. Rev. William Buckingham officiated, and organ music was played by Howard Vine.

For the double-ring ceremony, the bride chose a princess-style gown of delicate imported rose-point lace over gros de Londres with embroidery of opalescent sequins. The gown featured Sabrina neckline, lily-point sleeves and bouffant skirt. A coronet of rosepoint lace touched with seed pearls and sequins held her lace-edged nylon illusion veil, and her bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white feathered carnations with trailing ivy. Her father gave her in marriage.

Miss June Meredith, maid of honor, wore a ballerina-length gown of pale blue over taffeta with matching lace jacket and headband. Her bouquet was of white sweet peas and yellow Esther Reid daisies. Junior bridesmaid Miss Sharon Banks wore a similar gown in pink and carried pink sweet peas and white Esther Reid daisies. Best man was William Mason, and Donald Kidd, brother of the bride, and Cliff Rutledge ushered.

HOTEL RECEPTION

A reception was held at the Sidney Hotel, where Walter Hinchcliffe proposed the bridal toast. Yellow rosebuds and candles flanked the three-tier wedding cake. The bride's mother wore a navy blue dress with gardenia corsage.

For a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride donned a grey and white tweed suit with white accessories and corsage of pink carnations. The couple will live at 1711 Duchess Street.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

OPENING GIFTS AT PARTY

A surprise party in connection with a twenty-fifth wedding anniversary is to be held in a few weeks. A point has been raised whether or not it is proper to have the guests of honor open their gifts in the presence of all the guests, or if the presents are held unopened until after the Louise Davis party is over.

LOUISE DAVIS ANSWERS:

If the party involves a small group of people, it would be simple (and fun too) to open the gifts when all are present. With many people there, the anniversary couple would be doing little else but open packages. Somehow, it would be an anti-climax to have an array of unopened boxes and not have the pleasure of sharing the surprises and joys with the couple. The only thing to do is to think the party through from beginning to end, considering the number of people present. Primarily, this is to be a gay and festive gathering for all, rather than a gift-opening affair for the two honored guests. To help keep it a party and to have it go smoothly, a couple of the ring-leaders could be put to work in assisting with the package-opening, such as removing the wrapping and being sure that each enclosure card is secure with the gift after the two have admired it. Generally, friends giving an anniversary chip in ahead of time and decide on one nice item. That makes it simpler than the time-consuming opening of many gifts.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Tiny Model Knows Soap,
Water, Best Beauty Routine

Our happiness, success and appearance depend to such an amazing degree on the habits we form. Our habits of thought, our habits in food, our habits in posture, in exercise and in skin and hair care influence our personalities, our health and our looks more than we possibly can imagine.

These habits should be started early in life so that they are as natural and usual a part of each day as breathing, eating and sleeping. We simply take it for granted that we will indulge in them.

When training begins in childhood it assures an attractive teen-ager and when habits are established that young the adolescent usually will carry through to lovely maturity.

Little Vicky O'Neill started her health and beauty routine at an unusually youthful age. She is two years old and is a professional model, the daughter of Peggy O'Neill, also a professional model.

Of course Vicky had an advantage because her mother tipped her off early in life that soap and water is the best beauty treatment of all. Her mother also made it attractive for the child. Vicky learned that you take a bath not because you HAVE to but because it makes you feel good and look nice. She discovered that soap suds are pretty and feel "Yummy." She wouldn't skip her daily bath for anything.

Mrs. O'Neill's advice to mothers of young daughters is to make cleanliness both easy and enticing. When they are too small to reach the faucets at the basin, provide a little step stool to stand on. There's not much fun in always having a grownup wash your face and hands.

A girl likes to do things for herself. She likes her own towels and wash cloths, the kind with pictures embroidered or printed on them. She likes bubble bath stuff. Above all she likes to play in the tub and enjoy this pleasant part of the day.

Peggy O'Neill feels that her little daughter, Vicky, is establishing habits now that will serve her all the rest of her life. Of course Peggy also knows that her child learns a lot by watching her mother's beauty routine. No professional model can afford to be anything less than meticulously clean and well-groomed.

Vicky has observed that soap and water cleanliness is her mother's beauty formula and that hair should be neatly brushed and combed, that fingernails must be smooth and well cared for, and that clothes must be fresh from the laundry. If all mothers set an example for their young daughters and then made grooming and beauty care attractive with a few bubbles and personal aids, there would be fewer problems of poor grooming and scalp and skin trouble later on.

Victoria Men Jailed After Break-In

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two Victoria men were given jail terms in magistrate's court today on charges of breaking into a cleaning plant.

Richard Levers, 22, was sentenced to six months definite and 12 months indefinite in the young offenders' unit of Oakalla, and Wendell Botterill, 25, was given a six months sentence for breaking into Swan Brothers Cleaners, Aug. 6.

Police said they were summoned by a silent alarm and found Levers hiding in a dry cleaning machine. They said they arrested Botterill as he was running out the front door.

Arabs Ask UN Meeting on Oman

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Ten Arab countries today requested an urgent meeting of the United Nations Security Council to deal with British attacks in Oman.

They submitted a letter to Francisco Urrutia of Colombia, president of the 11-nation council for August.

Margaret to Visit West Indies

Johnny Dio Charged With Tax Evasion

NEW YORK (AP)—Racketeer Johnny Dio and a man described as his bodyguard, Theodore Ray, were charged in secret indictments opened today with federal income tax evasion and conspiracy to violate income tax laws.

Dio, focal point of recent attention by Senate racketeers investigators, was accused of failing to report income totaling $63,333 and evading payment of $20,168 in federal taxes for 1950, 1951, and 1952.

Gunmen Grab Newspaper Payroll

ST. THOMAS, Ont. (BUP)—Two gunmen today held up two women employees of the St. Thomas Times-Journal and robbed them of the daily newspaper's $4,700 payroll.

The women had collected the money from the West End branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada and had just returned to the newspaper building when the bandits staged their holdup. Both men wore dark glasses.

Police said they believe a third man waited for the pair in a getaway car.

Queen to Speak On TV During Ottawa Visit

OTTAWA (CP)—The Queen will make two national television and radio addresses during her Ottawa visit Oct. 12 to 16, it was announced today.

The itinerary of the visit of Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip was made public today by Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

The Queen will make a television and radio broadcast to the nation at 9 p.m. EDT (6 p.m. PDT) Sunday, Oct. 13. On the following day at 3 p.m. EDT (noon PDT), the Queen will open Parliament and the ceremony will be broadcast by television and radio. The Queen will read the speech from the throne, the traditional outline of the government's proposed legislation.

It will be the first time in Canadian history that a reigning monarch will have opened Parliament.

Prince Philip will also deliver a radio address but the time for this broadcast has not been fixed.

The Queen will arrive at the RCAF Uplands base, on the southern outskirts of Ottawa, at 4:30 p.m. Oct. 12. She will drive to Government House, where she will stay during her visit, and attend a press reception at 6:30 p.m. Government House is the official residence of Governor-General Massey, the Queen's representative in Canada.

On Monday, Oct. 14, at 10 a.m. the Queen will receive the Privy Council at Government House. The council includes mainly present and past members of the cabinet.

At 10:30 a.m., Prince Philip will receive a diploma as an honorary fellow of the Royal Society of Canada at Government House.

At 10:45 a.m., the Queen will receive the heads of the Commonwealth and foreign diplomatic missions and their wives at Government House.

The ceremonial drive to Parliament will start at 2:30 p.m. At 3 p.m., the Queen will officially open Parliament.

There will be a state dinner and state reception at Government House that evening, starting at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday, Oct. 15, at 10 a.m., the Queen and Prince Philip will leave Government House for a drive through Ottawa and neighboring Hull, Que.

During this drive they will attend a brief ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway, a new express highway through Ottawa, and sign the golden book at Hull city hall.

At 12:15 p.m., Prince Philip will receive members of the Duke of Edinburgh's study conference on industrial and scientific research.

At 5:30 p.m., the Queen will attend a reception at the Chateau Laurier hotel. This will be followed by a dinner at the prime minister's residence.

On Wednesday, Oct. 16, at 10:40 a.m., the Queen will leave Government House for the drive to Uplands. On the way, she will stop at Lansdowne Park where there will be an assembly of school children.

At noon, she will leave by RCAF airliner for the United States.

Mr. Diefenbaker said in a statement: "In view of the very limited time at their disposal on this occasion, the Queen and Prince Philip have had to confine their engagements to the Ottawa area."

In Denmark; 23 Dead

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—A Soviet airliner from Moscow clipped a mist-shrouded power plant smokestack today while coming in for a landing and plunged into Copenhagen harbor, killing all 23 persons aboard.

The dead included five Russian crew members and 18 passengers, including 11 Russians. Authorities said the others were two Britons believed returning from the Moscow Youth Festival, three Germans, one Dane and a person not yet identified.

The plane, a twin-engine Ilyushin-14 of the Russian Aeroflot Line, was on regular service between Moscow and Copenhagen via Riga, the former Latvian capital on the Baltic coast. It landed at Riga and took off for Copenhagen's Kastrup airport.

The plane was in normal contact with the airport until a few minutes before the crash. All orders from the control tower were given in English which was translated on the spot into Russian by an interpreter and broadcast to the plane.

It contacted the control tower and reported it was flying east of Bornholm Island "and all is well." It crashed in 3,500 feet and the pilot began searching for an opening through the overcast sky.

Shatters Mark
Recorded in 1933

NEW YORK (CP)—The Canadian dollar today rose to a historic high.

At the market close New York bankers quoted the Canadian dollar at 5 23/32 per cent premium in terms of U.S. funds.

The previous historic high of the Canadian dollar was 5 1/2 per cent premium, touched 24 years ago—in November, 1933, just before the United States went off the gold standard.

The Canadian dollar closed Wednesday at a premium of 5 1/2 per cent.

The touching of the all-time high climaxed a steady inching upward by the Canadian dollar, spurred by heavy U.S. investment in the Canadian economy.

Such investment involves the changing of U.S. money into Canadian money, and consequent demand for Canadian dollars. This demand forces up the price of Canadian money.

U.S. tourists here today will be irritated by the money exchange rate, just 1/32 more than on Wednesday.

This is because the Canadian dollar is 5 21/32 per cent higher than their money—the highest it's been since 1933, when our money was 5 5/8 per cent more than the U.S. counterpart.

So far, in most businesses, discount on U.S. money is made only on 50-cent pieces and above.

But the situation has arisen where a resident here receives change in U.S. silver; tries to spend it, and has the money discounted.

S. W. Dobbey, 3287 Glasgow, said he had received U.S. money in change from the Johnson Street liquor store, and later three groceries refused to accept it at par.

Liquor Control Board chairman Col. Donald McCugan said he will investigate the situation.

Dairies here charge the heaviest discount rate; two cents on 25 cents U.S., four cents on 50 cents; six cents on 75 cents, and five cents on the dollar.

The odd ratio was explained as banks charge for handling quantities of silver and, as one dairy spokesman said, "we get so much of it from corner groceries and elsewhere we have to do something."

U.S. PLEDGE:

No More Leakage
Of Security Data

OTTAWA (CP)—The United States government has assured security information on Canadians supplied to it by Canada.

The external affairs department today made public the text of a note from the U.S. state department to Norman Robertson, Canadian ambassador in Washington. The note was delivered Tuesday.

It said at one point:

"The procedures which have been followed by the security agencies of my government in the past and which they will continue to follow in the future, including the handling of information received from Canadian sources, are consistent with the assurances you seek."

Last April 10, the then Liberal government in Ottawa threatened to cut off the flow of security information on Canadians to the U.S. unless the American government gave assurances that the information wouldn't fall into the hands of any communists over which the U.S. administration has no executive control.

The Canadian threat arose after an RCMP report on the late Herbert Norman, Canadian ambassador to Cairo, was leaked in Washington to the U.S. Senate internal security sub-committee.

The sub-committee used the report to brand Mr. Norman a Communist. The report, saying that Mr. Norman was a Communist party member in 1940, was sent to the U.S. Federal Bureau of Investigation in 1950. The RCMP six weeks later told the FBI that its original report was false.

On April 4 this year in Cairo, Mr. Norman committed suicide after the sub-committee had received 1951 allegations that he had Communist connections.

The U.S. note said:

"These U.S. security agencies operate under a directive which provides that any agency receiving information from another may not transmit such information outside its own organization without the consent of the originating agency."

"Further it is my understanding that, in addition to the above directive governing dissemination of information by executive agencies of my government, the security agencies of Canada and the U.S. which exchange information abide by the restrictions imposed by the sender upon the receiver as they relate to further dissemination."

There was no explanation why it took the U.S. state department more than four months to reply to the Canadian note of April 10.

The U.S. note concluded: "As has been the practice in the past, the two governments will continue to consult concerning mutually satisfactory arrangements covering the exchange of information between them."

Temporary Burial
For Crash Victims

ISSOUDUN, Que. (BUP)—Workers continued to probe for the fuselage of the DC-4 airliner today, and for any remains to be added to a makeshift grave near the scene of Sunday's tragedy.

A quiet farmer's field contrasted the torn and scarred marshland last night as six wooden boxes containing the unidentifiable remains of some of the 79 victims were lowered into the ground.

The informal ceremony, witnessed by a silent group of airline officials, investigators, police and villagers, was conducted for sanitary reasons.

Dr. Jean-Paul Pouliot, corner of Lotbiniere County, said it was "impossible to say how many persons were buried last night, but it would probably be about one-third of all the victims."

The 30-foot square plot on the edge of a marshy wood about a mile from the wreckage was purchased last night from Albert Martel by Maritime Central Airways. "It is an honor to be able to provide a resting place for the victims of the tragedy," said the farmer on whose land the big plane, bound for Toronto with a load of war veterans and their families, crashed.

Meanwhile at Ottawa Transport Minister Hees said a public inquiry will be held as soon as possible into the crash.

Mr. Hees said the inquiry will open as soon as the plane wreckage has been recovered from the bog southwest of Quebec and examined by experts.

Princess Ann Just 7 Today, Tall As Brother

BALLATER, Scotland (Reuters)—Princess Anne today celebrates her seventh birthday at Balmoral Castle, just the Royal Family around the table to wish the blonde, blue-eyed daughter of the Queen a happy birthday.

There were rumors of a real wrist watch as a present, and of course there was one more pearl for the necklace which her grandfather, the late King George VI, started with one bead at her christening.

There is nothing prim and prissy about the princess, who jigs and prances in public when she is delighted—or bored—and pouts obligingly for the cameras when something goes wrong.

ENVIES BROTHER

She watches her brother's activities with open envy, and probably the greatest calamity in her young life this year was the day Charles went off to day school, leaving her alone in Buckingham Palace to do lessons with Katherine Peebles, her governess.

She was so depressed about this that the Queen arranged for two little girls to share those lessons each day in the palace schoolroom.

No Rossellini For Daughter, Says Ingrid

ROME (UP)—Actress Ingrid Bergman today indignantly denied as "ridiculous" a newspaper report that her daughter Jenny Ann Lindstrom planned to marry one of the Rossellinis.

The Rome newspaper Momento Sera said Jenny Ann had fallen for Franco Rossellini, the 22-year-old nephew of Miss Bergman's husband Roberto Rossellini.

It said they took a long boat trip together in the Blue Grotto in Capri last week and "were seen smiling and holding hands in the streets of Capri like any young couple in love."

Miss Bergman, speaking by telephone from her Santa Marinella beach bungalow north of Rome said "the report is so ridiculous that it is not worth a denial."

... QUEEN

These broadcasts as well as other public information arrangements will afford the Canadian public generally a sense of presence with all of us here in Ottawa.

"It seems particularly fitting that Her Majesty should find it possible to be in Ottawa this year, which is the 100th anniversary of the selection by Queen Victoria of Ottawa as the future national capital.

THREE-WAY JOB

"It is also most gratifying that the Queen herself will be able to participate in a ceremony marking the beginning of the Queensway—a project involving the co-operation of the city of Ottawa, the province of Ontario and the federal government and one forming an important part of long-term plans to develop the national capital."

After, they leave here, the Queen and Prince Philip will arrive at Patrick Henry Airport, Va., at 3 p.m. Oct. 16.

They will visit the Jamestown festival, commemorating the 350th anniversary of the Jamestown settlement, and Williamsburg, the restored colonial capital of Virginia.

On Oct. 17 they will fly to Washington where they will be met by President and Mrs. Eisenhower. The Queen will place a wreath at the tomb of the U.S. Unknown Soldier at Arlington National Cemetery and at the Canadian Cross that evening.

TO ATTEND GAME

There will be other formal engagements in Washington before the Queen attends the Maryland-North Carolina football game at College Park, Md., Saturday, Oct. 19.

On Oct. 21, the Queen will visit New York, leaving that night by air for London.

House Group Cuts Foreign Aid Ignoring New Eisenhower Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The full House of Representatives appropriations committee today brushed aside a new plea from President Eisenhower—the third this week—and slashed $309,650,000 from foreign aid funds.

The action came on the heels of a White House statement, directed to the committee, asking for restoration of the money "in the conviction that the national interests of this country are deeply involved."

The sequence was about the same as Wednesday's. Then, Eisenhower in a special press conference, appealed for all of the $3,367,083,000 which Congress had set as the ceiling in an authorization bill he had just signed. That figure itself is $500,000,000 less than Eisenhower originally said was needed.

Motoring Thrills at Half the Price

By a Satisfied Hillman Owner

There is a growing interest by the American public in small cars with a good performance and plenty of room. It was decided to take one of the smaller English cars, which sell at a moderate price, for a run on the super high roads of the United States, to see how it performed at high speed over long distances.

Standards of value were a main consideration, and a top limit of $2,000 was put on the price of the car, which was to have an engine of not more than 1,500 cubic centimeters. In several cars which came within this specification were examined and tested, and as a result of these tests, it was thought that the car most likely to succeed was the new Hillman "Minx", which is well within this price range, costing only $1,898, and is powered by a lively overhead valve engine of only 1,300 c.c. or 85 cubic inches, or 51 brake horse power by American standards.

One consideration which put the Hillman up front was its excellent suspension. Although the system is quite conventional by present-day standards, it is, nevertheless, remarkably steady and firm, without any trace of hardness.

Another was appearance. The lines of the standard sedan are very much in keeping with the more expensive Continental sports models, and these are somewhat enhanced if the car is in one color, and does not follow the present two-tone mode, which is not always so successful on the smaller cars as on the enormous chariots with many excrescences now being produced by the major American factories.

The interior of this small sedan has adequate space, and there is none of the feeling of cramped elbows—which was not uncommon in small Continental and English cars a few years ago. Also there is plenty of room in the luggage compartment. The car chosen was painted black, with red leather upholstery. A judicious and economical use of chrome gives the car, when finished, a smart appearance, which was much admired in the States.

After a careful running-in on the Island roads, the car was driven in a leisurely manner to Portland. The next day's run from Portland to San Francisco—680 miles—was done in 15½ hours without undue fatigue, or the slightest discomfort. The interior of the car was very comfortable, and the car was on to Reno. Next from Reno to John Day in Oregon, along Highway 395—hard to beat for scenic grandeur and comparatively deserted. Finally another long run, leaving John Day at 7.30 a.m., arriving at Harrison Hot Springs at 10 p.m.—560 miles; three hours being used for stops.

Although conscious of the fact that one was not driving a Jaguar, Aston Martin or a Sunbeam "Rapier", the general behaviour of this little "Minx", costing only $1,898, was quite astonishing.

The average of the two long runs was just under 50 m.p.h., but at no time was there the slightest feeling of fatigue in the engine, brakes, or driver. The car was delightful to handle on straight highways or winding mountain roads, and was easy to park in the cities.

The maximum speed of the car by speedometer reading was 84, but with favorable conditions such as a following wind the needle went right round the clock past the 90 mark. However, long periods were covered at between 70 and 80 miles per hour, and one was surprised, and somewhat disconcerted, to find the "Minx" floating past ears of three times the price, and five times the horsepower—without any fuss at all.

This was in no way a gas economy test as the throttle was kept well opened. The mileage, however, taking into consideration the "American gallon" was over 30 m.p.g., and three quarts and one pint of oil were used. Not one cent was spent on the car apart from fuel and cleaning.

Altogether this was a remarkable experience, and an eye-opener as to the advance which has been made recently in the design of small English cars, to which can be added the advantages of traditional British craftsmanship. One was getting, in fact, a perfectly adequate performance for fast, long-distance travel on the world's finest roads—to say nothing of a brisk and nimble performance in city traffic—for approximately one-half the capital outlay, and one-half the running cost.

made to a congressional group Monday night. The new Eisenhower statement came out while the full committee was working on the bill. In its final committee form the measure allows $2,524,760,000 in new money for the overseas program in the year which started July 1.

The week's first Eisenhower plea for foreign aid money was

A BEAUTY ON A BUDGET

It's hard to believe the Hillman's price tag; how could so much car cost so little? How could British craftsmanship build so much solid value into a car that sells for about $1,000 less, model for model, than "low-priced" American automobiles? ## Russia Winning In U.S.-Syria Diplomatic Row

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is seen in some circles here as the big winner so far in a diplomatic dogfight between Syria and the United States.

The Soviet policy of making trouble for the Western powers in the Middle East appears to have paid off handsomely in this conflict which led Wednesday to American ejection of the Syrian ambassador to Washington.

Announcing that Ambassador Farid Zeineddine was no longer personally acceptable here, the state department also declared that the U.S. ambassador to Damascus, James S. Moose, will not be returning to his post.

In addition, the state department ordered out of the country by Friday Second Secretary Hassan Zakaria of the Syrian Embassy. That step and the action against Zeineddine, who was already in Syria, were taken in retaliation for Syria's ouster of three American Embassy officials earlier this week.

Wenner-Gren Chiefs Survey Trench Area

VANCOUVER (CP)—Survey work on the proposed Wenner-Gren project in the Rocky Mountain trench area of B.C. is running according to schedule, an official of the organization announced Wednesday.

At the same time, K. B. Strid, chairman of the board of the Wenner-Gren Foundation, said that $6,000,000 has been allocated for initial surveys. This is $1,000,000 more than was originally planned.

Mr. Strid, here from Stockholm, leaves today on an aerial survey of the property. Also on the flight will be Bernard Gore, managing director, Einar M. Gunderson and William Murphy, directors.

Mr. Strid said the additional expenditure will speed up development of the area.

Four Bodies Found of 6 Buried Alive

DRESDEN, Ont. (BUP)—The bodies of four of six men buried alive in a cave-in apparently caused by the vibration of a heavy machine were recovered today under 200 tons of blue clay.

Efforts to recover the other two bodies were halted when a second cave-in threatened diggers in the excavation project. Police Chief Alvan Watson said the pit would have to be shored with wooden beams to prevent a further collapse.

The victims, all Dutch-Canadians, were buried Wednesday night when the wall of a 35-foot deep pit of a water plant cofferdam collapsed.

Concrete had been poured into the pit before the collapse and police feared the two bodies were imbedded in it.

British Boy Wizard Has School Problem

LONDON (Reuters)—The boy who knew too much has come back to Britain after a 12,000-mile journey in search of just the right kind of school.

He is six-year-old John Kneel, a whiz at mathematical problems, crossword puzzles and spelling, who is said to have the mental ability of a boy of 12.

The precocious youngster arrived here with his parents by sea from Australia.

His mother and father had decided to return to England because Australian schools couldn't cope with his son.

There Is Something in the Air, Men to Tune in on Chanel Five

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Few businessmen today rub perfume on their ankles to help them solve a vexing problem.

That may be missing a bet.

After all, Socrates, one of history's greatest wise guys, perfumed his food and household pets," said Arnold S. Berke, who sees an increasingly scented future for males.

At 41, Berke, vice-president of Schiaparelli's, is one of the youngest executives in the rapidly expanding cosmetics industry.

"Men now buy about 60 per cent of the perfume sold in this country," observed Berke.

"Most of it, of course, is for women. But speaking frankly,

Jets Shatter Home Village Of Top Rebel

MANAMA, Bahrain (Reuters)—British Venom jet fighters today blasted the fort and towers at Sait, home village of the Imam of Oman, Arab rebel leader. Made at the request of the Sultan of Muscat and Oman, the attack demolished the fortifications completely, largely for psychological effect, according to an official spokesman.

Plans are nearly complete for the withdrawal of British troops who supported the Sultan's campaign to crush the rebellion, and the troops should start to leave within a few days.

In Cairo, the Imam of Oman's representative said "Omanis are still fighting and occupying a very important strategic city." He did not name the city.

84-Year-Old Rector Still Going Strong

CALGARY (CP)—A Calgary clergyman has begun his 84th year with energy that might well be envied by men half his age.

Canon E. William Herbert, assistant rector of the Cathedral Church of the Redeemer, has been in the Calgary Anglican diocese for 50 years.

He is as active as ever he was, giving private Communion to shut-ins and visiting the parish's three hospitals and six nursing homes. He says he would not be happy if he were not working.

Born in England, Canon Herbert studied there and in Canada.

"Actually I never really had much time for schools, because I was so anxious to get out working in the parish," he said.

Since he has been unable to get insurance on his car, he goes around the parish on foot, often carrying a heavy bag with the articles needed for a Communion service.

One thing that bothers the canon is that he cannot do everything he would like to do. "I guess it's like that for every clergyman who is interested in his work," he remarked philosophically.

Wedding Bells to Seal Courtship by Mail

SARNIA, Ont. (CP)—A Sarnia boy and an English girl who kept up a courtship by mail between Canada and England are to be married here soon.

Margaret Slater, 17, of Risley, in Derbyshire, and Jack Willis, 19, of Sarnia, started their correspondence in September, 1955, when Margaret asked her visiting aunt, Mrs. James O'Dell, of Sarnia, to find a pen pal for her.

Mrs. O'Dell suggested Jack, and the two young people took over from there.

"It was almost a year after our first letters until Jack sent me his picture," said Margaret. "Margaret's aunt brought several pictures of her from England and I could tell she was a nice girl," said Jack.

Jack proposed in March last year, and Margaret was "sure surprised," she said.

Margaret arrived here some months ago and Jack, of course, was on hand to greet her. "Jack was just as I pictured him," Margaret said.

we are headed toward a time when most men will use perfume themselves — although it will be specially formulated for them."

Berke sees no reason why this prediction should be startling. "South American men have always worn perfume," he said, "and in Europe it was worn by more men than women, until the French Revolution came along."

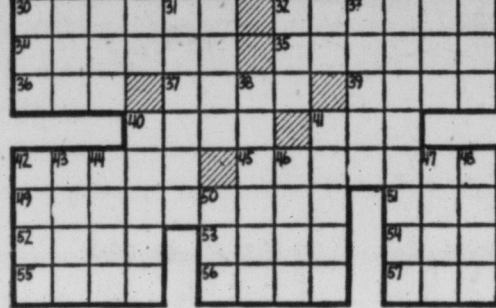

Berke's firm is one of several that have already come out with special new perfumes for men. His brand is marketed in a bottle shaped like a pipe—to lend it a masculine air—and, according to him, has "a fresh outdoor spicy scent."

But Berke feels that the man of the future has little real choice as to whether he'll give off the fragrance of a walking pine tree or a rampant field of clover.

"The men may think they know how they want to smell," he said, "but it is the women who will finally decide."

Every woman knows the lift that perfume can give her. But what can it do for the more prosaic male?

"It gives you the feeling you have after playing a good hard game of golf... or taking a needle shower and getting a rub-down," said Berke firmly. "You feel as if you can conquer the world."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a lot of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by club readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Are Penguins Birds or Animals?

Penguins, as everyone knows, live in the chilly south polar regions. Few people get to see them in their native homes. From a distance, no one could be blamed for mistaking the cute little fellows for seals, bears, or even for small human beings. But penguins are birds, complete with feathers, beaks and wings. They have birds' feet, webbed for swimming, and the wings are used as flippers in the water instead of for flying in the air.

Right now the penguins are having the time of their lives. For penguins love people and there are more human visitors down at their chilly home than ever before. This is in the International Geophysical Year. And experts from 12 nations—speaking six different languages—are on and around the cold continent of Antarctica to study geography, the ocean currents and the weather.

The penguins were there to greet the advance ships when they arrived in 1956. As is proper for penguins, they lined up in erect, dignified rows to welcome their visitors. The older members, looking like aldermen ready to hand over the keys of the city, planned to wait there for a formal introduction. But some of the young fellows, unable to control their excitement, ran forward on their funny flat feet, waving their flappers and squawking hellos.

The penguins do not always act like dignified aldermen. They are very sociable fellows and they love to play. In fact, they turn work into play—a trick which your old Andy practices all the time. Work for the penguin is swimming and diving for fish—especially for sardines which they enjoy most. When they all plunge into the water they might mistake them for a frolicking troop of high-spirited fifth graders.

Another important job for the penguins, as it is for everyone, is bringing up the children. This, too, they make into a happy social event. Sometimes 100,000 of them form a colony to nest and rear the gawky youngsters. In some cases, Junior Penguin is an only child and there is rarely more than one pair of twins in a family. Mom and Pop are devoted parents. Surrounded by friendly
